

Nick's Numerology
Volume 1
Casual Numerology

Table of Contents

Chapter 1 – Let's Get Started!

- 1-1 – The Purpose of Numerology
- 1-2 – The First Steps: The Meanings of 1-9
- 1-3 – Digital Rooting: Determining “the number.”
- 1-4 – Compound Numbers
- 1-5 – Triple Numbers
- 1-6 – The Pythagorean System

Chapter 2 – Constructing the Chart

- 2-1 – The 7 Core Numbers
- 2-2 – Calculating the Life Path
- 2-3 – Calculating the Self
- 2-4 – Calculating the Heart
- 2-5 – Calculating the Persona
- 2-6 – Calculating the Experience
- 2-7 – Calculating the Heart's Key
- 2-8 – Calculating the Persona's Key

Chapter 3 – Advanced Chart Aspects

- 3-1 – The Toolbelt
- 3-2 – Life Path Pinnacles & Challenges
- 3-3 – Name Pinnacles & Challenges
- 3-4 – Calculating the Specific Chart
- 3-5 – The Essence Chart

Chapter 4 – Compound Numbers

- 4-1 – 10-19
- 4-2 – 20-29
- 4-3 – 30-39
- 4-4 – 40-49
- 4-5 – 50-59
- 4-6 – 60-69
- 4-7 – 70-79
- 4-8 – 80-89
- 4-9 – 90-99

Chapter 5 – Number Compatibility

- 5-1 – Understanding Number Compatibility
- 5-2 – Determining Compatibility
- 5-3 – 1-1 to 1-9
- 5-4 – 2-2 to 2-9

- 5-5 – 3-3 to 3-9
- 5-6 – 4-4 to 4-9
- 5-7 – 5-5 to 5-9
- 5-8 – 6-6 to 6-9
- 5-9 – 7-7 to 7-9
- 5-10 – 8-8 to 8-9
- 5-11 – 9-9

Sources

Chapter 1 - Let's Get Started!

1-1 - The Purpose of Numerology

The purpose of Numerology is something that is different for everyone delving into it. The reason is due to the following divination:

Numerology = 55/1

The Master Number of new beginnings, cosmic thought and higher will rule over this method of divination, which ensures that any aspiring Numerologist or reader will have their own thoughts about the field, their own ideas that would be used to gain some cosmic insight into their lives. The 55/1 also guarantees, however, that this search for the truth will be an individual experience, that their understanding of the art and their perception of it can vary widely and unification of common principles can be difficult.

Therefore, it should be little surprise that Numerologists vary widely on their own methods of delineation. Since each contains a but of the wider truth, their methods more often than not work for them. The search for individualized purpose is ever present in Numerology and its understandings infinitely varied amongst its practitioners. The lack of 2's in the word indicates a lack of cohesion and common ground between those who practice it, which only solidifies the independence. There is an inner impulse to seek cooperation between others here.

That's not to say its all negative of course. From a more balanced viewpoint, the 55/1 of Numerology signified a search for a higher truth or purpose to one's existence. This can bring new insights not previously contemplated and can serve to steer the course of one's life in a whole new direction. Those reading this material are more than likely aware that there is far more to life than one can see with their own eyes. Numerology attempts to explain the unseen forces of one's life, anywhere from delving into the way one thinks to explaining the forces that overlook one's existence (from a material standpoint).

Up until recently, Numerology has not received the serious study it has deserved in the public eye. Increasingly, Numerologists have developed their own systems to replace the simplistic interpretations found in the earlier 20th century. While it has not (yet) been received the attention as that of astrology, Numerology has been slowly coming into its own with increasing innovations. The building complexities found with each new discovery ensure that the art will be around for years to come.

Classic Numerology, otherwise known as Pythagorean Numerology, is the most widely used system in the western world and indeed it is known for its accuracy. However, what many do not realize is that this accuracy is in context of the culture one belongs to.

1-2 – The First Steps: The Meanings of 1-9

We have chosen to express our mathematics of the creation by using 9 single digit numbers (base 10 system) . Each number presents unique qualities that are only present for that number and create for itself a construct that harmonizes the relates to the other numbers around it. The understanding of Numerology starts with the first 9 numbers. Understanding them leads to the understanding of compound numbers and later interactions with core numbers in the chart, which are discussed in Chapter 2-1.

1

The number 1 is the all, the united, the singular. It is the monad, the positive male force of nature. It stands on its own and does not rely on anyone, save for others to help them drive their motivations into existence. It is an independent, determined and often times ego-centric number that is not afraid to go after what it wants. Its determination creates a new reality for others to live in. 1 represents the beginning of something new, the moment when a new seed is planted, having been chosen from the previous 9 cycle of all things. Having made the choice of what to do, the 1 strengthens its will and takes action to see its choice come to fruition.

Positively, 1 is a very self-confident number that is sure of what it is doing, and is not afraid to apply its will to see its desires carried out. It does not intrude upon the wills of others, but rather works with them toward a common goal, or if coming across opposing wills, works around them instead of beginning a confrontation.

Negatively, 1 can have low self-esteem to the point where it begins soliciting others for help due to its "weakened" position. A cowardly 1 may try to intimidate others and can resort to violence if things do not go their way.

2

2 is the duad, the negative female force of nature. It is focused upon the other, relating to things outside of themselves. They are equipped with a great deal of sensitivity (regardless if its embraced or repressed) that helps them understand the greater reality outside of themselves. As a result, those who embrace their sensitivity may experience feelings that are not their own, but from other people. This facilitates one of the 2's main lessons, that of understanding the other. Due to this sensitivity and the large amount of information it receives as a consequence, the 2 is not so easily confident with itself as the 1 is. It can be indecisive with their choices at times. However, their diplomatic personality usually wins them through in the end. 2 represents the duad, the dual aspects of nature and polarization.

Positively, the 2 has an appeasing personality that seeks to create an atmosphere of cooperation among its peers. When it faces those that may try to dominate it, the 2 knows how to talk its way out of it and can in fact turn the end result into its favor instead.

Negatively, the 2 focuses its abilities on separation and conflict, instilling hatred in others with lies, and generally tries to play another's emotions against themselves. They are known as toxic people.

3

The 3 is all about being creative. The first buds from the seed planted in 1 finally shoot from the ground. It is the growth of something already started, a cycle put into motion that develops upon itself as it goes. After learning how to cooperate with others, the 3 seeks to socialize and relieve itself of the fears built up previous. It is also an expansion of consciousness, where a growing curiosity of life propels one to try new and different things. The 3 likes to have a good time with others and enjoy life. This number represents the manifestation of one's ideas into physical reality.

Positively, the 3 looks at the positive in every situation and refuses to be let down by bad news. The 3 seeks to create a cycle of growth, and ideal growth happens positively. It is polite and courteous, if not a tad bit flirtatious.

Negatively, this number tends to scatter its talents in too many directions and cannot remain focused on one thing at a time for very long. This includes dating from one person to another.

4

The number 4 may not be the easiest number to live with, but it offers many advantages that the other single digits do not have. It is a number that likes routine, stemming from the cycles previously established with the 3. Through the 4 comes lessons in limitation, showing one that not all is possible with their imaginations alone, but that the imagination must work with material reality to become manifest. It is also through limitation that one learns aspects of themselves that they did not know previous, and the strength to overcome obstacles develops from this. 4 is a slow mover, being a plodder with a great attention to detail.

Positively, the 4 is dedicated to its project and does the work that it needs to do. It provides for those that need their assistance, whether monetary, constructive or just a support to lean on. They are "the rock."

Negatively the 4 can become frustrated with their limitations and may seek to cheat to get what it wants. It may channel its anger into explosive arguments that only hurt others.

5

After working with the detailed and often arduous labor of understanding the fundamental systems of nature, 5 seeks to break out of that routine and see what the world has to offer. It likes to move everywhere, curious about many things for what it seeks is physical experience, particularly that of the senses. Where the drudgery of the 4 kept one in a single spot, 5 realizes that further growth can only come from experience. It travels, meets new and unusual people different than themselves and has a passion for adventure. It does not like to conform to preset standards as defined by society, but to discover which things identify with their own inner reality. They take change as it comes, and can readily ride its waves with little issue.

Positively, the 5 is a very forward thinker and moves itself into better situations, not minding to help others along the way. It flows with change and responds to it in a positive manner.

Negatively however, the 5 remains rigid and stays in a situation for too long. It reacts to change badly, causing an uproar to those around them.

6

The 6 is a loving number caught within itself, after experiencing all there was to know about the 5.

While responsible and caring for others, they are also focused upon their own growing awareness of their emotional selves. Life tends to throw them experiences that catch them reflecting back upon their own self. The questions of morality and ethics play strong roles with this number. 6's are typically very family oriented, regardless if in the traditional sense or not. Due to their responsible nature, others may treat them as doormats unless they stand up for themselves.

Positively, the 6 is a considerate person who knows what to say and does not interfere in others business. It fosters a strong sense of community and friendship with their loving hearts.

Negatively, it can be very manipulative. It knows what to say to trigger another to do as they please. Power binges are a constant issue.

7

The 7 is often alluded to as the number of mystery. Indeed, it is the base number of the spiritual self and its analysis. After learning about the ways of love in the 6, the 7 seeks to learn how to open its heart up to its significant ones. Faith and trust are central issues to this number, especially trusting one's own inner source. They can be warriors ready to fight and defend whom they hold dear. Emotional issues can plague this number to paralysis which should be avoided. The 7 seeks to center its inner self amidst the chaos that it perceives, i.e. becoming the eye of the storm.

Positively, the 7 is open and free from ego. It is not afraid to face their inner fears.

Negatively, the 7 is internally paralyzed and does anything to keep its heart from opening up. This can lead to catastrophes that could have been avoided.

8

After successfully implementing what was learned with the 7, the 8 integrates within themselves along with its ideas into the external world. It is the testing of spiritual principles in the material world. It is often associated with business and the flow of currency, but can also be found within music and other disciplines as well, where strength and integrity are needed.

Positively, the 8 is respecting to that according to its level. It practices forgiveness with frustrations and knows how and when to positively integrate ideas into a system.

Negatively, the 8 is a bully. It is disrespectful, believes it is the best and works to disintegrate that which it believes does not conform to their principles.

9

With enough interconnection, one begins to realize the unity of all things, which is when 9 steps onto the stage. Representing the world, the 9 is compassionate and can be willing to sacrifice for another, with no benefit to themselves. They are outgoing and often artistic, though the latter is often latent. They often learn through their naiveté.

Positively, the 9 looks to the welfare of others and seeks to make a contribution to the world.

Negatively the 9 becomes power hungry and manipulative. It may also be too naive for its own good.

1-3 – Digital Rooting: Determining “the number”

Throughout much of Numerology, double digit or triple digit numbers are “reduced” or digitally rooted to a single digit number. When someone first gets into the subject of Numerology, they may ask what their “number” is. The number they get is typically a digitally rooted number that was derived from a much larger number. This is done for many reasons. One is for the sake of simplicity, not only to the reader's understanding but also to the Numerologists, who can have an easier time working with one's chart. Another is to determine the rooted archetype of a compound number to determine its nature. Each number is reducible to a single digit which shows the apparent archetypal nature of that number.

This process works in two ways: addition and subtraction. The primary method is addition and is to be assumed when a number is digitally rooted. The process always works by adding or subtracting straight across a number, not picking and choosing (as we will see later with subtraction). As an example, let's take the number 24. By itself, it is the number 24 and, if one was not interested in Numerology it would simply be 24. However, by the process of digital rooting, 24 is reduced to the number 6. This is done by simply adding the 2 and 4 together ( $2 + 4 = 6$ ).

Another example is the number 183, which digitally roots to the number 3. How?  $1 + 8 + 3 = 12$ . This is what is called the first persistence level. The number of persistence levels is determined by the number of reductions needed to reach a single digit. In this case,  $1 + 2 = 3$ , so there are two persistence levels. Each level does have significance in determining the aspects of a number, though the final level is what is seen to be most important.

Numbers that are digitally rooted in Numerology are written in a different way than they are normally. In the case of 24, it is written as 24/6 to showcase that the number has a positive root of 6. As for 183, it is written as 183/12/3 to show the levels of persistence. To interpret this number, first the makeup of 183's single digits are interpreted as to how they work together. Then, the 12 would be understood for what it means and seen in the context of the 183 before it. After this, the 3 would be interpreted in context of the 12 before it. Interpreting compound numbers and their persistence levels becomes almost like an art form as more persistence levels adds a greater quantity of facets to view the number with. It is an exercise in understanding that can take some time in order to see the various angles that a number may be seen from.

Each compound number and above also has a subtractive result. This is not written along with the additive digital root, but is also an important part of the interpretive process. A number is reduced to a negative integer by subtracting straight across the number, not the smaller from the larger. Taking the first example, the negative root of 24 is -2 ( $2 - 4 = -2$ ). This -2 is not written when expressing the number casually in most of Numerology, i.e. 24/6 is the standard method and showcases the numbers positive potential. In the case of 183, the negative root is -10 ( $1 - 8 - 3 = -10$ ), which then roots to -1 ( $1 - 0 = -1$ ). I leave it to the reader to write these numbers as they wish, only to explain the traditional ways of writing compound numbers and their roots. Possibilities include writing 24 as 24/+6/-2, 24/6, 24/-2,  $24^{+6}_{-2}$ , or writing 183 as 183/+12/+3, 183/-10/-1, 183/+12-10/+3-1 and so forth. For the purposes of this book, I will be writing the compound numbers in their traditional way, i.e. 49/13/4.

1-4 – Compound Number Anatomy

In Nick's Numerology, the original number is retained and analyzed thoroughly. The analysis of the compound number adds many dimensions that are otherwise absent from the process of reduction. The anatomy of how a compound number is analyzed is below:

+z
XY
-z

X refers to the outer digit (being of a number 1 through 9) which describes the overall makeup of the number and its general qualities. Y is the digit that X focuses upon. For example, in the number 31, the 3 (mundane creativity, sociability, joy of living) is focused upon the 1 (individuality, self reliance, original thought). The results of this focus come in two forms: +z and -z, a positive and negative reaction which represents the duality of all things. The positive reaction, called the sum, represents the positive aspects of a single digit, and the negative reaction (called the root or challenge) represents the negative aspects of a single digit. In this example,  $3 + 1 = 4$ , the positive reaction being strength and stability in the face of limitation. The negative reaction is  $3 - 1 = 2$ , being a lack of cooperation with others, war, strife and deceit. This duality can be expressed within a number of archetypes, such as positive being one expression of love while negative being one expression of fear and so forth. In this case, 4 representing commitment, strength and loyalty, and the 2 representing the fear of others. To get a better idea of how single digits relate with one another, please take a look at Chapter 5 and the various ways the single digits can be compatible with each other.

In another example, let's take the compound number 24. Through digital rooting, the 24 is reduced by adding both digits together until a single digit is achieved, in this case  $2 + 4 = 6$ . The 6 would then be used as a blanket statement for the individual, reducing the potential accuracy the number 24 could offer. So now, using Nick's Numerology we would examine the anatomy of 24.

+6
24
-2

The 2, the feminine cooperative number is focusing on limitations, work, stability and strength. This is a very loving number as indicated by the +6, which rules the heart, commitments, morality and responsibility. This aspect will be challenged by relationship issues, deceit and potential treachery. The -2 indicates conflicts with others. This is just an overview of the number to illustrate the point I had outlined earlier. However, one can now see a glimpse into the anatomy of compound numbers with this method.

Each compound number is influenced by the number before it and the number ahead of it. For example, the number 34 is influenced by the number 33 and the number 35 in different ways. 33 is the backdrop, the spiritual memory that the 34 comes from which partly makes the number what it is. The 35 is the destination and the 34 strives toward it with its own lessons.

When triple numbers or above become involved, then the structure of anatomy becomes more complex.

This is more described in the next section (Chapter 1-5), but in simple terms, the sum (positive addition) becomes flanked with not only the root (negative), but a crown as well. With compound numbers, the sum is the same as the crown and there is no differences between the two.

1-5 – Triple Numbers

Working with triple numbers is a bit different than with compound numbers. With the latter one was shown how to interpret the two single digits and how they interacted. With triple numbers, there are not only three single digits but there are three different calculations.

First lets start with reading the number and understanding it. How is it read? Similar to how they are said. Let's take for example the number 132. This number is first understood by the 1st two digits, or the 32. It is understood to be the number 32 embedded within the 100's decade. Essentially, it is the 32 with a powerful one in front of it.

With compound numbers, one works with two resulting numbers from hallucinations: the sum and the root (or the challenge). With triple numbers, there are three resulting number: the sum, the root and the crown.

While the sum is the overall core energy and the root is often seen as the challenge, the crown is the aspiration, what the number reaches up to. It is a subtle influence that can denote the type of environment it is to be found in. The sum is reached via normal method of digital rooting, aka adding each digit together until a single digit is reached. The root for triple numbers is found by subtracting one single digit with the one next to it, and the result is placed between both single digits. This process creates an inverted pyramid, and the resulting sums themselves are further subtracted from each other until a single digit is reached.. The crown is found in a similar way to the root but the opposite: each individual single digit is added together in a line and the resulting reduced sum placed between the two digits above. This creates an upright pyramid, and this process of addition continues until a single digit is reached as well. The overall result is in the shape of a diamond.

The anatomy of 132 is as follows:

In the above example, the sum is 6 (1+3+2), the root is 1 and the crown is 9. The sum is the more important of the three in regards to general understanding of the number. It is the path of the 132 to take (6), but to get there it focuses on the 9 while rooted in the 1. The 9 is composed of 4 and 5, which as explained in Chapter 5 can result in some chaotic movements on the physical plane. Triple numbers are much like a tree and its roots and branches must be understood in order to fully comprehend such numbers.

1-6 – Pythagorean System

There are many systems of letter to number translations done for different reasons. However, for the purpose of this book, the Pythagorean System will be used as it is the most popular, easiest to work with and the most accurate in terms of delineating one's characteristics.

The Pythagorean System works by translating the letters of a Latin alphabet into numbers by arbitrary assignment. For example, for the English language, the letters a through z are assigned a number from 1 to 26.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I
J	K	L	M	N	O	P	Q	R
S	T	U	V	W	X	Y	Z

Each letter that has a compound number as its translation is digitally rooted to its single digit. For example, the letter Z equates to the number 26.  $2 + 6 = 8$ . The Pythagorean System is used in this way much of the time, simplifying the process of interpretation. This may seem hypocritical given the explanations of compound numbers found in Chapter 1-4, however the intention is to create a system that is well balanced between ease of understanding and accuracy of delineation. Greater accuracy is brought about through more complexity, however this makes understanding far more difficult for the layman. Therefore, a balance is sought between both of these aspects and the reduced form of these numbers will be calculated in the following chapters. If one wishes to explore the specific values of these letters and the resulting numbers, then please refer to Chapter 3-4: The Specific Chart.

This system works for languages within the Latin alphabet. This includes English, French, Spanish, German, Italian and Portuguese. The numbers are arbitrarily assigned to the order of the letters in each respective alphabet.

Chapter 2 – Constructing The Chart

2-1 – The 7 Core Numbers

The first thing to explain are the 7 Core Numbers. These numbers more or less reflect your current situation of your incarnational existence. These numbers reflect not only the material existence one may experience, but they describe one's spiritual experience as well. The idea of the use of simultaneous material and spiritual realities is a relatively new concept, first being presented by Richard Andrew King. It is a brilliant breakthrough that shines out above the cookie cutter process that's too prevalent throughout much of Numerology. The spiritual numbers describe fundamental parts of ourselves, while the material numbers describe the material everyday reality that we encounter while walking our Life Path.

The 7 core numbers are as follows: The Life Path, the Self number, the Heart number, the Persona number, the Experience number, the Heart's Key number and the Mind's Key number. Each number is meant to correspond to an aspect of our existence and to the make up of our physical selves.

The best way to fully understand the 7 core numbers is to start with the Mind number as this is the easiest to understand since the ego is worked with in daily life. From this comes the Heart number which not all people may understand about themselves. For example, those who believe they are their egos may receive a shock from descriptions on inner impulses they never were aware about. However, this experience is vital to understanding the overall Self, expressed as the Self number. This number is more broad, encompassing the Heart and Persona numbers but gives an overall view of how the Self is made up and its lessons in life. By first understanding the Heart and Persona numbers, one can better understand the Self number.

Next, the Life Path is understood, in relation to the Self. This is even more broad, but the Self can better relate to what it faces in life. As to the why things happen in life the Experience number is next looked at. Then, the Heart's Key is sought in order to learn how to best express and make use of their heart's desires during their existence. And finally, the Mind's Key is used to learn how to balance the ego with one's path in life.

All of these core numbers are explained more thoroughly in their following respective sections.

2-2 - Life Path

The Life Path is essentially what it says it is: the life path that we must walk during our existence on Earth. It influences every aspect of our being in one degree or another, and as such it is typically seen as the most important number in Numerology. It foretells how our lives will end up and the energies that will surround us as we engage in our reality. The number itself describes the external reality, but this path is one that affects not just the physical self but our spiritual self as well, as lessons in life can affect us internally.

Out of all the 7 core numbers, the Life Path is the most pronounced and the most widely felt in physical reality. This is why oftentimes it can be called “your number” as it has been seen to be one’s most obvious trait when seen by other people. The lessons of life can mold us into who we are, and this can be prominently reflected in our demeanor.

To calculate the Life Path the date of birth is taken and summed up altogether into a final sum. To do this, the birth month must first be translated into a number:

January: 1	July: 7
February: 2	August: 8
March: 3	September: 9
April: 4	October: 10
May: 5	November: 11
June 6	December: 12

Once this is determined, place all of the numbers together in a single row and add straight across each single digit. For example, taking a birthdate of June 13, 1980, this is translated as 6 13 1980.  $6+1+3+1+9+8+0=28$ . As discussed in Chapter 1, 28 can be written as 28/1, 28/10/1 or whichever way you prefer. This result is the Life Path, and one could then look at the description for 28/1 in Chapter 4 to learn more about that number.

2-3 – Self

Whereas the Life Path denoted the opportunities and lessons one would come across in their physical life, the Self indicates lessons on a more personal level. It shows us what to improve on, which can often turn us into that very energy, in a positive or negative sense. Those who believe in reincarnation can see this number as one of the clear lessons to learn.

To calculate this number, the full birth name as shown on the birth certificate is used. Any hereditary titles (Jr., III, etc.) are omitted. Using the Pythagorean table previously discussed in Chapter 1-5, the letters of the name are then translated into numbers.

Below is the Pythagorean table for reference:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I
J	K	L	M	N	O	P	Q	R
S	T	U	V	W	X	Y	Z

The name of Adrian Goodwill will be used as an example. Each letter of his name is translated into the number found in the table as shown below.

A	D	R	I	A	N		G	O	O	D	W	I	L	L
1	4	9	9	1	5		7	6	6	4	5	9	3	3

Once translated, the numbers of each name are added straight across to arrive at a single sum which are not reduced but kept in their original state. From there, the sums of both names are added together to arrive at the Self number.

$1+4+9+9+1+5$	$7+6+6+4+5+9+3+3$
29	43	72

Adrian Goodwill's Self number is 72. This number will be very prominent in his life and it is best for it to be understood to unlock its full potential and to use it to his advantage instead of his detriment.

2-4 – Heart

The Heart number describes a force lying within our inner selves. Some may not even be aware of this aspect within themselves. It tells of the nature of one's desires and the overall internal makeup of an individual on the heart level. These desires are more of spiritual origin and others may not guess these aspects of someone else unless such an individual was well known.

This number is calculated by taking the vowels from the full birth name as found on one's birth certificate and translating the letters to numbers. Y is considered a vowel. Using Adrian as the example:

A	D	R	I	A	N		G	O	O	D	W	I	L	L
1			9	1				6	6			9

These numbers are then added straight across:

1+9+1	6+6+9
11	21	32

32 is Adrian's Heart number.

This number can surprise many people who have not done soul searching within themselves before and thus may not understand their own hidden desires and motivations. This number can shed light as to how people really tick and to better align one self to what will really make them happy in life.

2-5 – Persona

The Persona is the part of us most readily seen by others. It is also commonly known as the Personality number for this reason. However, its inner working is far more than it appears to be. The Persona covers the realm of the mind and is the indicator to how one's ego operates. It also shows what tends to please the ego the most.

If you have already calculated the Self and Heart numbers, then the Persona number can be calculated by simply subtracting the Heart number from the Self number. For example, in Adrian's case, his Self number is 72 and his Heart number is 32. Therefore,  $72-32=40$ , his Persona number.

If the Heart and Self numbers have not been calculated, then this number can be calculated by adding together the translated consonants in one's full birth name. Taking Adrian Goodwill's name again:

A	D	R	I	A	N		G	O	O	D	W	I	L	L
	4	9			5		7			4	5		3	3

Then these numbers are added together:

$4+9+5$	$7+4+5+3+3$
18	22	40

40 is Adrian's Persona number. To better understand this number, one would turn to its corresponding page in Chapter 4.

2-6 – Experience

The Experience number is, as the name suggests, a number that is best understood over time. It is the Self number in relation to its Life Path and the experience that results. It can explain why certain things happen in one's life the way they do. As the Self and the Life Path become more understood in one's life, one begins to see the benefits to this number.

This number is calculated using the Life Path and the Self numbers. If these have not yet been calculated, then please turn to sections 2-4 and 2-4 to calculate these first. Once determined the Life Path and Self numbers are then added together to reach the Experience number. From the previous sections, it was determined that Adrian's Life Path was 28 and his Self number was 72. Therefore:

$$28+72=100$$

Adrian's Experience number is 100. This number is an accentuated number one as the zero's increase its intensity. In Numerology zero's are interchangeable in meaning with 9's in some ways and this is one aspect. However, zero's differ in that they represent the “everything and nothing” of all that is. In otherwords, it is akin to the energy of the Fool in the Tarot, and more zero's intensify this effect. Experience numbers often come in the form of triple numbers. Please refer to triple numbers in Chapter 1-4 to learn how to interpret them.

2-7 – Heart's Key

The Heart's Key is the number that shows the best ways to manifest the desires of the heart on the physical (material) plane. This number can also serve as a warning to show the dangers one's Heart number may manifest and how to avoid them. Desiring something from life is one thing, but making it work with one's material life is another.

The Heart's Key is found by adding one's Life Path to the Heart number. If this has not yet been done then please see Chapters 2-1 and 2-3 respectively.

In the case of Adrian Goodwill, we have already calculated his Life Path of 28 and his Heart number of 32. Therefore:

$$28+32=60$$

60 is Adrian's Heart Key. This number portends a need to be responsible and ethical in order for his desires to manifest positively. Respecting the boundaries of others is another key with this number. How one treats this number will determine whether their desires will manifest positively or negatively. Please see the entry for 60 in Chapter 4-6 for more information.

2-8 – Mind's Key

The Mind's Key shows the best way to deal with one's thoughts: whether to engage or to cast aside. It can show the best way for said thoughts to manifest but this number also shows the dangers they can bring. This is especially true in terms of the ego.

To calculate this number, simply add together the Life Path with the Mind number. If this has not been done yet, please look through Chapters 2-1 and 2-4 respectively.

In Adrian's case, his Life Path is 28 and his Mind number is 40. Therefore:

$$28+40=68$$

Adrian's Mind Key is 68. This number shows that his mind should have more of a sense of humor when expressing itself. At the same time, it warns to not cast aside familial or relationship obligations and solely focus on one's career. This is also tied in with his Heart's Key of 60, which deals with relationship issues. One's thoughts cannot always be too serious. For more information on 68 please look through its respective entry in Chapter 4-6.

Chapter 3 – Advanced Chart Aspects

3-1 – The Toolbelt

Before this point, we talked about the 7 Core Numbers, their calculations and understanding how they operate. They make up the basic structure of the chart. However, there are many other aspects to Numerology that surround these Core Numbers that can give more details as to the operation of one's existence. There are many ways to understanding one's existence and the Toolbelt is one of them.

The Toolbelt shows the amounts of the nine numbers one will be working with. It is akin to having tools on a toolbelt: there may be many of a certain type or none of another type. Having certain types allows one to gain certain knowledge and experience in these areas quicker since these tools are available. A lack of certain numbers however indicates a lack of experience and/or knowledge in certain areas and that growth can be slow and frustrating. Typically, when missing numbers, these lack of qualities are obvious in an individual. Likewise, with a large amount of a certain number those qualities are also readily apparent which serves to help define them. One may have so much of a number that it is used in excess and can become negative as a result.

To determine your Toolbelt, first take each of your 7 Core Numbers. Using Adrian Goodwill as the example:

Life Path: 28/1
Experience: 100/1
Heart's Key: 60/6      Persona's Key: 68/5
Heart: 32/5              Persona: 40/4
Self: 72/9

Then, create a table numbered 0 through 9 as shown below:

0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

Now, count each of the individual integers in the core numbers and place it within a numbered table, similar to what's shown above. Also keep note of any zeros found in any of the compound numbers. Adrian's toolbelt looks like this:

0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
4	1	3	1	1	0	2	1	1	0

The result is what is called the toolbelt. The higher totals found in a certain integer indicates a greater knowledge and experience within the areas covered by that number. The highest total is known as the Prime Strength. The second highest is known as the Secondary Strength and can leave its mark in more subtle fashions. The lesser totals, or none at all show less knowledge and may make one become prone to trouble especially if none are present. Any number equaling a zero or the lowest number(s) in the toolbelt is known as a Prime Weakness. Typically, weaknesses are expressed negatively until actively worked on by the individual. The zero is indicative of the need to learn something falling within the nine numbers. The quantity of the totals also take a part in the interpretation, as these numbers also retain the characteristics of the nine single numbers.

We can see that Adrian is a very unique individual as his greatest quantity of integers (his Prime Strength) is zero. This indicates an awareness of the nothingness of all that is. There may be a pull to understand the infinity of creation on more mundane levels, as the quantity of zeros is four. This includes the workings of nature expressed on the physical level, perhaps mathematics are involved. It indicates a need to learn how the creation works on this level. His intuition is probably used in his work to a good degree. His Secondary Strength is a 2 which indicates a knowledge and a need to learn about finer details and subtleties. Since he has three two's, this will be expressed on the more creative end. This can mean anything from simply expressing knowledge to others to building and designing something on a scale that requires fine intricate work. He probably has a good sense of cooperating with others.

Adrian is missing 5's in his toolbelt, however. This indicates a lack of knowledge in regard to constructive freedom and fears relating to loss. Areas pertaining to freedom, the senses, liberty, exploration and experiences in life may either be lacking or negatively expressed. Typically with a 5 weakness, one can see overindulgence in substances and a lack of life experience as common problems. This is a bit unfortunate as his Heart number digitally roots to 5. In essence, this means that his lack of experience in this area will make his Heart's Key of 60 that much more important. His two 6's can help him in this regard, relating emotions and responsibilities on more empathetic levels. Adrian is also missing 9's, which is indicative of problems dealing with selfishness, compassion and putting others interests over his own. His Self number also digitally roots to a 9, and again this indicates a weakness that will play an important role in his life. In this instance, the Self number makes a more prominent stance vis a vis the Heart number as the Self encompasses his entire life, so the 9 will play a more readily felt role, namely in increased awareness of lessons that surround this number. It is a stressed focal point in other words, something that is important for Adrian to learn in this life.

The Toolbelt is exclusive to Nick's Numerology and as of this writing has not appeared in any other known publications.

3-2 – Life Path Pinnacles & Challenges

The Pinnacles can be seen as the atmospheres that one may move through during certain periods of one's life. They bring about certain sets of catalyst inside of one's environment to learn according to the lessons inside of one's chart. The Life Path Pinnacles focus specifically on the periods in relation to the Life Path, how the external world may change as one's live moves forward. They can be useful to anticipate upcoming changes and to help adapt one self to best use the energies offered for one's personal development.

To calculate one's pinnacles, the numbers in one's birth date must be reduced to single digits. As an example, we will use Adrian's birth date of June 13, 1980. The first step is to arrive at the compound numbers of all three aspects of the birth date:

June = 6
 13
 $1 + 9 + 8 + 0 = 18$

We arrive at the numbers 6, 13 and 18. This number string is then laid out and the first two are added together followed by the last two numbers in the string. The sums of each are then added to reach the third sum before the first and last are added to reach the forth sum. For example:

		24
		50
	19		31
6		13		18

For this birth date the Pinnacles are 19, 31, 50 & 24. Each of these Pinnacles occurs at certain periods of one's life and one moves through them like one moves through atmospheres of different worlds. The Pinnacle Periods do not suddenly start and stop but instead gradually fade into each other as time passes. Thus, on a year with two pinnacle periods one may experience one of each, one becoming less influential and one becoming the greater focus. These Pinnacle Periods are calculated as follows.

For the First Pinnacle Period, one takes the number 36 and subtracts their digitally rooted Life Path number. The result is the number of years the first pinnacle will be in effect. Adrian's Life Path is digitally rooted to 1, so  $36 - 1 = 35$ . This means that Adrian's first Pinnacle of 1 will be in effect for the first 35 years of his life (from 1980 to 2015.)

The Second Pinnacle Period is calculated by simply adding 9 to the last year of the First Pinnacle Period. In Adrian's case, the last year is 2015, so  $2015 + 9 = 2024$ . This means that Adrian's Second Pinnacle of 4 lasts from 2015 to 2024.

The Third Pinnacle Period is calculated the same way as the Second, by adding 9 to the last year of the previous period. In this case, Adrian's Pinnacle of 5 lasts from 2024 to 2033.

The Fourth Pinnacle Period is simple: it lasts from the last year of the Third Pinnacle Period to the end of one's life. In Adrian's case, his Fourth Pinnacle of 6 lasts from 2033 until his passing.

Analyzing the results, we can see that from a young age that Adrian will be going through an atmosphere of independence and self attainment. He will have to learn to stand up for himself as his parents may be overly domineering and may not respect his free will. Determination, courage and initiative will be highlights of this period. He must be careful not to isolate himself from everyone else or think he must do it all on his own. There may be false starts before one's true career is found. His second pinnacle brings about a period of much work and a need to focus on the details. He must pace himself at the right speed with the workload that he has and not rush through everything just to get it done. Otherwise, details may be looked over which may become problematic in the future. There will be a temptation toward laziness that must be averted. The reward for hard work only comes after the work is actually completed. Adrian's third pinnacle however is different and he will see a steady increase in activity and booked schedules. Unexpected happenings can occur such as a new job, new relationships or other major life changes. This period will be far more exploratory and he'll find interests in a variety of experiences that stimulate his senses. Travel will increase extensively during this period. Adrian's last pinnacle sees him increasingly surrounded by loved ones and looked after. He may also become increasingly inside of himself as he reflects on his life years past. He will have much love to give to his descendants with encouragement and advice to share.

While they do not define who we are, Pinnacles are a great tool for unleashing the lessons that we have come to learn.

Challenge Numbers

Every coin has two sides and that is no different with the Pinnacles. They are called as such because they show us what we may lack in understanding and so working with them can be a challenge, but they can help us grow if we embrace their concepts. The Challenges show what can help propel us to achieve and work with the Pinnacles during certain periods.

To calculate them, simply take the number string and subtract the numbers together in a similar manner as the Pinnacles. For example, taking Adrian's birthdate:

6		13		18
	7		5
		2
		12

His challenges are 7, 5, 2 and 12. Their periods are of the same length as the Pinnacles and they work in tandem with each other. For example, Adrian's Challenge of 7, that of searching for faith within, establishing trust and other spiritually related challenges is directly connected to his first Pinnacle of 19. The 7 in this instance, once embraced and understood can propel him to make the most out of his 19 Pinnacle and this is likewise with the other Pinnacles in tandem. He will be seeking a spiritual connection within himself. The second challenge of 5, that of flexibility, dealing with loss and experiencing new things works with the second Pinnacle of 31, which shows a time period of much change and needing to establish a work ethic (31) in the midst of such change. The Third Challenge of 2 relates to an inability to cooperate with other in a harmonic fashion, such as lack of tact or inability to see both sides of an issue. The Third Pinnacle of 50 is a flip of Adrian's previous challenge, that of flexibility and life experience. In order to create a harmonic experience for himself he will have to learn how to cooperate with others. The Fourth Challenge of 12 relates to having to choose between himself or other people in regards to situations. This is needed for his 24 Pinnacle to operate smoothly. When to do it himself and when to let go will be a major focal point.

If the Pinnacles and the Challenge numbers were put together, Adrian would have what is called a Diamond:

		24
		50
	19		31
6		13		18
	7		5
		2
		12

This shows both concepts in one place. The results here are not the same results as would be found in say the reduced forms of the birth date:

		6
		5
	1		4
6		4		9
	2		5
		3
		3

This is because any number in the equation that equals 10 or greater will give a different result in the subtraction vis a vis those numbers that retain their compound form. This is why it is important to use compound numbers when performing these operations and not to reduce to a single digit.

3-3 – Name Pinnacles & Challenges

Just as one's Life Path has Pinnacles to move through, so does one's self. The numbers that make up one's name create their own Pinnacles which are more experienced around one's self on a personal level. They are the personal atmospheres one traverses through in contrast to the atmospheres of one's Life Path. They can shed some light as to why certain events happen the way they do. In another sense, they are a way to understand the self much like one examines the facets of a crystal.

To calculate the Name Pinnacles, take the name calculations done in Chapter 2 and digitally root the compound numbers to single digits. These digits are then added together in a similar manner as shown in Chapter 3-2. For example, taking the full name of Adrian Goodwill:

Adrian		Goodwill
29		43
	72
	72
29			43

The Name Pinnacles also go through their own periods of time. These Periods are calculated in the same way that Life Path Pinnacles are: for the first pinnacle, one takes the number 36 and subtracts the digitally rooted Life Path. In Adrian's Case, his Life Path is 1 so  $36 - 1 = 35$ . Thus, Adrian's first Pinnacle of 29 lasts from 1980 to 2015. The Second Pinnacle is calculated by adding 9 to the last year of the first pinnacle period. Thus, the Second Pinnacle runs from 2015 to 2024. The Third Pinnacle Period is found in the same way, so this period runs from 2024 to 2033. And finally, the Fourth Pinnacle Period is from the last year of the Third Pinnacle Period to the end of the life, or from 2033 onwards.

So for Adrian, his First Pinnacle is 29. This indicates a time of intrigue but also deception and lies from others, especially women. On a personal level, relationships will be difficult and fraught with misunderstandings. Coupled with his 19 First LP Pinnacle, he will often have to decide between what is best for himself and what is best for others. This time period will move quickly and see many associations with others. He will have an ability to influence others for good or for worse, and be able to sense things others cannot. His Second Pinnacle will bring him into a very different atmosphere that fosters more of a spirituality and the need to purify the inner self. With his Second LP Pinnacle of 31, this time period is likely to be slow and stodgy. He will work more on his own time and may develop trust issues with others. Expressing feelings may become more difficult and he must be careful not to erupt in front of loved ones. The Third and Fourth Pinnacles is 72 which is the same as his Self number. In two worded names this always occurs. This means that this number and the lessons it presents is very important at that time. Adrian will deal with increasing understandings that will turn out to be illusions which will end and/or evolve his experience on a constant basis. The important thing at this time is to let go of said realities and move forward when this occurs. Clinging to material possessions past their usefulness is not advised, as then one may forcibly lose them.

For someone with three or more names, the interpretation is different. Let us imagine for this example that Adrian had a middle name of Christopher. In such an instance the Name Pinnacles would look like this:

Adrian	Christopher	Goodwill
29	67	43

		72
		206
	96		110
29		67		43

The results here are more similar to the Life Path Pinnacles. In this spread of numbers, Adrian would face a childhood within a large family with many responsibilities. Relationships will be important and his childhood may find him looking for a partner early. The opposite is also possible, in that the parents may divorce leaving Adrian in limbo. He may have to watch out for others trying to meddle in his own life. In the year 2015, Adrian would find an increasing need to find cooperation and coming round amongst others as competition and nerves can pit against nerves. The accomplishments done during this time can inspire and unite others with similar interests. Adrian's 206 indicates a time when the use and focus of soft power takes precedence. He will be among those with positions of influence if he is not on one himself. Again, relationships will be important, though he should not let ambition get in his way. The final number is the same as his Self number in the previous example.

Challenge Numbers

There is a flipside to the Pinnacles: the Challenges. They may seem to hold us back, but in reality they show us how we can best grow toward our Pinnacles to begin with. They are similar in concept to the Life Path Challenges, but instead are more focused on the personal Self. Consider Adrian's Challenge numbers:

29		43
	14
	14

Again, since Adrian was born with two names, the number spread is much simpler. The first two Challenge Numbers are the same as his first two Pinnacle Numbers. That is, his strengths are the same as his weaknesses. This means these numbers and the lessons they bring are a major emphasis in one's life. His Third Challenge, the 14 is different and showcases a major need to look out for addictions or any activity that distracts one from the truth at hand. Sudden losses may occur and so this is a personality that should stay on its toes and not take things for granted.

In total, the the name would resemble what is called a diamond:

	72
	72
29		43
	14
	14

If the compound numbers are reduced ( $2+9=2$  &  $4+3=7$ ), then one can see the similarities to his chart and the number 27 in Chapter 4. This makes interpreting two name profiles that much easier with this added insight.

3-4 – Calculating the Specific Chart

Up until this point, the calculations explained for obtaining Numerology charts relied upon using the reduced, digitally rooted sums of the individual letters of the alphabet. As was mentioned in Chapter 1-6, this does not result in the most accurate Numerological chart possible, but is done this way because the most accurate way, the Specific Chart can have many learning curves for the average reader. Therefore, a balance is sought between ease of understanding and accuracy in classical Numerology. This chapter is about constructing the Specific Chart using the principles outlined previously. It will deal with many triple digit numbers and use of the Diamond as mentioned in previous chapters. If one is not interested in working with the nitty gritty, then this chapter can be safely skipped.

The Specific Chart is constructed much like the charts before it. The 7 Core Numbers are still used and compound numbers are retained and analyzed fully, including triple digit numbers that will come up. The major difference is the letters of the alphabet are not digitally rooted to single digits. Instead of using the Pythagorean Table as found in Chapters 1-6 and 2-2, the table below is used instead:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26
A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I	J	K	L	M	N	O	P	Q	R	S	T	U	V	W	X	Y	Z

Each of the compound numbers assigned to a letter is retained and not digitally rooted. The name is then calculated as normal and the result retained. This includes the Self, Heart and Persona numbers. Taking Adrian Goodwill as an example, his Self number is first calculated:

A	D	R	I	A	N		G	O	O	D	W	I	L	L
1	4	18	9	1	14		7	15	15	4	23	9	12	12

1+4+18+9+1+14	7+15+15+4+23+9+12+12
47	97	144

Then his Heart number:

A	D	R	I	A	N		G	O	O	D	W	I	L	L
1			9	1				15	15			9

1+9+1	15+15+9
11	39	50

And finally his Persona:

A	D	R	I	A	N		G	O	O	D	W	I	L	L
	4	18			14		7			4	23		12	12

4+18+14	7+4+23+12+12
36	58	94

So far, the results are:

Heart: 50
 Self: 144
 Persona: 94

The other 4 Core Numbers can only be found with the Life Path, which is also calculated differently. Instead of adding the single digit numbers straight across, instead the compound numbers are retained along with the year and each are added up until a sum is reached. For Adrian, his birth date of June 13, 1980 results in:

6	13	1980	1999
---	----	------	-------------

His Specific Life Path is 1999. With this number, the other 3 Core Numbers can easily be calculated:

Heart's Key:  $50 + 1999 = 2049$
 Experience:  $144 + 1999 = 2143$
 Persona's Key:  $94 + 1999 = 2093$

Thus, to put it all together:

	2049 Heart's Key		2093 Persona's Key
1999 Life Path		144 Self		2143 Experience
	50 Heart		94 Persona

This is in comparison to Adrian's previous Numerology chart:

	60 Heart's Key		68 Persona's Key
28 Life Path		72 Self		100 Experience
	32 Heart		40 Persona

The differences are obvious. The only similarities between the standard and specific numbers are their digital roots. The 72 and 144 are different in that both numbers not only have totally different single digits, but their crowns and roots are different also:

	9
	72

5
---

		13
	5		8
1		4		4
	3		0
		3

72 is a number more internalized dealing with wisdom of the world and learning not to be afraid to let go in the process. 144 on the other hand is a much harder worker and more grounded by the presence of the two 4's, along with its apex which deals more with the commerce of the world than the 72 does. It is much more practical, though can have problems with its expression of itself as indicated by the 3 root. Relaxing and enjoying life could even be an issue, whether overdoing it or not doing it at all.

Other numbers like the 2143, a quadruple number can be harder to disseminate and takes time to fully understand.

			20
		8		12
	3		5		7
2		1		4		3
	1		3		1
		2		2
			0

In the subtraction process, the 0 counts as the same as the 9. However, this 9 is made up of a negative 22 indicating a difficult time cooperating in large group projects and oversensitivity to its surroundings. This 22 is further brought about by an isolation as indicated by the 1 and 3 together in the negative position. This is all offset by the 20 crown which seeks cooperation and diplomacy where it goes, to be used for 2143's mission of 1. This 20 in turn is made up of 8 and 12, implying effort and sacrifice to make this happen, Herculean efforts perhaps. These efforts are quick and require stamina (35) but the sacrifices may be unconventional in nature (57) requiring one to think outside the box and be creative to find a solution.

This is just the tip of the iceberg as far as delving into the results shown here. The interpretation and comparisons of both charts could take many pages, but will instead be left here. This is an exercise best left to the reader as one learns faster by practicing on their own.

3-5 – The Essence Chart

The Essence Chart can be said to foretell events that may transpire. This is not to a specific degree – as in what time the wedding may be rescheduled, if one's cash may be reclaimed and so forth, but rather it is to show the type of events one may expect for a given period. Will the events bring stagnation, hard work, change, more responsibilities? The Essence shows which of these lessons and others like it that will be predominant for a certain period.

The calculation of the Essence chart is somewhat lengthy, but is as follows. First, a time line is created that corresponds to each year of one's life. Next to this, columns are set aside, one column per given name at birth. One last column is given at the end for the summation. Beginning with the first name, each letter of the name is taken and, using its numerical value, is placed the same amount of times down the column. For example, A equaling 1 would be placed only one time. R however equals 9 and would be placed 9 times down the column. After all the letters of the first name are placed, the process repeats itself again until one arrives at a predetermined age. The next name would then be done down the next column and so on until all the names have been exhausted.

Once all the letters are written, the letters are added straight across to reach a final sum which is not reduced. Taking Adrian Goodwill's name as an example:

0	A	G	8
1	D	G	11
2	D	G	11
3	D	G	11
4	D	G	11
5	R	G	16
6	R	G	16
7	R	O	15
8	R	O	15
9	R	O	15
10	R	O	15
11	R	O	15
12	R	O	15
13	R	O	15
14	I	O	15
15	I	O	15
16	I	O	15
17	I	O	15
18	I	O	15

19	I	D	13
20	I	D	13
21	I	D	13
22	I	D	13
23	A	W	6
24	N	W	10
25	N	W	10
26	N	W	10
27	N	W	10
28	N	I	14
29	A	I	10
30	D	I	13
31	D	I	13
32	D	I	13
33	D	I	13
34	R	I	18
35	R	I	18

Here the Essence Chart was drawn up to the age of 35. Ages that have repeating Essence numbers such as Adrian's 15 Essence from age 7 to age 18 is known as a long transit. They usually have a marked influence on one's life. The 15 here indicates a long time period of unethical behaviors, much movement and perhaps even troubles with the law. Relationship and family issues are likely to be paramount during this time as well.

Big numbers to look out for are 13, 14, 16 and 19. These four mark major events in one's life and can often be traumatic. Their descriptions found in Chapter 4 can shed more light to their inner workings.

The transition from one Essence to another is not instantaneous, but is rather gradual and can be felt even before it officially goes into effect. The same is true for the Pinnacles as well. If the Essence matches one of the 7 Core Numbers then it will have significant impacts on the life. If the number matches a weakness in the Toolbelt then it foretells a lot of difficulties on the horizon.

Again, these numbers are meant to give a general idea of what to expect. They will not predict exact situations. Since it is the name being calculated, these situations deal primarily with the Self and not one's Life Path, that which is outside the Self. Therefore these events will be felt more personally.

Chapter 4 – Compound Numbers

4-1 – 10-19

10/1

Being the first compound number, 10 is learning about the proper use of personal will in reality. First starting out, the 10 may think it knows all and it asserts itself, however there is a major difference between using one's personal will and asserting one's ego and the 10 must learn the difference. The ego is one's false intelligence, and one of the key lessons for the 10 is learning to assert its will from beyond the ego. This assertion of will must be done on their own, all by themselves. This fosters inner growth, self reliance and an inner confidence knowing they can tackle bigger situations by themselves. Independence is the key word for this number, where it asserts its will to control its own authority.

+1
10
-1

Numbers that end with zero are what could be called Decad Numbers or Choice Numbers. They represent having to make a choice in regards to the spiritual orientation, or the polarity of the number they are working with. This positive or negative choice is true for all compound numbers in terms with deciding to live with the aspiration of challenge, but for Decad numbers the choice is the base energy itself for an entire decade of numbers. As we can see with this diagram, its greatest strength is also its greatest weakness. The positive addition of the two digits 1 and 0 yields 1 itself, the aspiration to achieve, in this case willpower, determination and confidence to achieve what it desires. The positive 1 acknowledges the independence of others and try not to step on each other's toes. The negative subtraction however also yields 1, the challenge to be overcome. In this case, it is the same 1 energy but in the negative: ego, dominance, and only caring for what they want, disregarding all else. Here, this is the first number with such a challenge, which acts as impetus or impediment. The one, relying on itself makes the choice for itself all on its own. Learning how to establish themselves in such an environment is the first step toward greater understanding of the universe.

11/2

11 is the first of what has been termed the "Master Numbers." Master Numbers is any number a multiple of 11. They focus upon their own energy and essentially double themselves. In the case of 11, this is the energy of the independent individual focusing upon the same attributes, leading to relation and cooperation or conflict and dissension (2), depending upon the choices taken. It is a symbol of two individuals interacting which can take a variety of turns in life, depending on the makeups of each. "Two heads are better than one" can be said to relate to this number. It can bring tensions when one individual does not jive with another's independence, but it can also create immense cooperation when it becomes understood that constructive partnership can bring improvement in one's life. 11 is a visionary number as a result and can see things others cannot, but it must also be careful to remember that what it can see is not all of what the universe can offer.

+2
11
0

11 is known as the number of illusion, for it creates realities that may or may not actually be real. One of its key lessons is to distinguish fantasy from reality. The first basic illusion is the others will against another's creating a conflict (2). This is alongside the illusion that all other wills will cooperate with its own. Often, these illusions are just as seemingly authentic as reality and will be taken to be seen as such. However, when the positive path is taken, that of uncovering reality by understanding and overcoming illusions, one begins to understand that reality is a much grander place than illusion could ever bring. That's not to say that illusion is meaningless: its intensity serves as a catalyst for growth, which is where the 0 challenge comes in. To understand illusion, one must look within themselves. Illusion is not solved merely with the mind, but with the source within. Whether this is followed or not will often determine the choice of polarity with the 11. If the heart is not consulted, then the illusion often controls the individual. If the heart is used however, then one begins to learn how illusory their reality really is, thereby gaining greater understanding of themselves and the universe around them. Such people often become enlighteners to help others understand what they have discovered about illusion.

12/3

The 1 in relation to others. After negotiating with the other self can the 1 relate to the other selves. This is the basic building block of culture, the self going to other selves in agreement to create a society (3). It means juggling the demands between different people at once along with your own needs. Because of dealing with so many other selves, self-esteem may be an issue at times. It must decide between actions that would benefit others directly or only benefit itself. It is learning to balance its own ego with the needs of others. If it becomes too egotistical, then sacrifice is highly implied. This happens to show the 12 that only catering to itself is sometimes not the best way to go, and to develop empathy for their fellow man.

+3

12

-1

Clearly the above anatomy shows this. When positive, one relates to others easily and can enjoy a good time together, or make contributions to society. A group activity is involved in some way, with each person introducing new ideas, unafraid of rejection. There is confidence knowing that the other would understand, and even with rejections their opinion is not construed as a personal attack against self. Of course, when the opposite is in effect, the -1 is then at play. A lack of confidence can let the 12 fear social situations and it may communicate in a manner not according to social acceptance. Social rejection from lack of esteem and will may lead to ridicule. In its extreme one is sacrificed in some way as a form of rejection to the norm, such as not being invited to a party for saying something wrong to someone or for being perceived as an outcast. In the end, it is about seeking acceptance from others and, upon doing so enjoying the life offered.

13/4

The self in transformation. It begins with an idea, gathered from the creativity of meeting other selves and realizing that, through the experiences of good times there were laws at work within reality. These laws seemed to limit or stop some ideas from manifesting. Such ideas would not be able to transform into their designated reality. In order to see one's ideas and dreams come to fruition, one must be mindful of the laws of nature. A refusal to understand one's own natural law manifests as laziness and lack of ambition, which leads to further struggles and limitations down the road. Positively however, limitations are seen as an impetus for one's creative juices to flow in order to "solve" the problem and realign one back to natural law.

+4

13

-2

The self with its ideas meeting reality, and reality transforms or frustrates the 13 depending on if its willing to learn or not. Discipline and practicality are needed to see it through, or it may falter and instead stumble about in laziness and apathy. Unless it gains the strength to face the unknown, then insecurity and indecision may plague it. Pretending to like one's reality does not cut it. The key is to understand the values of limitation and work: they not only show the laws of nature, but they also show oneself capabilities they could not know otherwise. Would you know what was inside a golf ball if it was not under crushing pressure? These lessons, while not wholly pleasant are a vital piece of the learning process of understanding the universe. They show what it takes to make dreams a reality. It is also the transformation process to becoming that which he desires and this comes complete with growing pains. In the end, the 13, if engaged will often be in a better position than it was originally.

14/5

The self in temperance. This number has an impulse for freedom, but often comes across limitations when its not looking. Hence, 14 tends to have a "stop and go" quality to it. As the 4 signifies habits however, the 14 may have a hard time getting out of them, especially when it comes to drugs, sex, alcohol etc. Despite this, it has the strength to overcome these obstacles with the right outlook on itself. They can be highly sexually promiscuous, and if not so then much creativity comes from this highly charged sex drive. This can lead to destructive behavior if left unchecked. It feels like it doesn't need anyone, but in reality it has a hard time finding anyone like themselves. Being unable to relate to others has a very destructive effect on this number and can result in self sabotaging tendencies.

+5

14

-3

The self works for freedom, to free itself from its limitations. Its success largely depends on its attitude and outlook (-3) on any given situation. It must also be careful that its occasional bullheadedness does not cause disruptions in the social life. This can be a very positive number as long as it steers clear of negative habits and impulses. It has the stamina to work toward a greater good and the strong faith to keep itself aligned toward a goal until it is achieved. It is important to not become too flexible or too rigid, but to maintain a fine balance in day to day life. It must learn to channel its sexual energies constructively. It must also learn that saying no is sometimes the only way to go. The sense of not being understood by others (-3) is one of its major life challenges.

15/6

The self in motion and exploration. Experiencing changes and loss, 15 finds it must readjust itself to the circumstances on their own footing. With so many new things to experience in life, especially sensuality, the self begins to rethink its understanding of reality by diving into its emotional self. This number is great at enjoying life, but if it does not hold true to its own principles then ethics may be violated. This number is equivalent to "The Devil" in the tarot for this reason. Negatively, it can represent out of control desires and sensualities. The self must learn to explore with morality and ethical standards in order to not be corrupted by such influences.

+6

15

-4

What gives the self its ability to propel forward into experience is its foundation, created previously in 13 and 14. It is like an engine fueled by principles, habits, strength and endurance. When 15's foundation is lacking, life's experiences throws the self into chaos and confusion tossed about in the winds of change with little control over one's self. This includes indulging in various kinds of temptations that a solid foundation would prevent from happening. In other words, as long as 15 stays real then it will not falter. The first vestiges of responsibility also show here with the accumulation of experiences and, along with the opening of the real emotional center, love based issues. What is ethical and what is not will often be a key issue to understand. Through all of this the 15 finds itself growing into a new person, for better or worse.

16/7

The self under adjustment. The self becomes tested in love, responsibility and ethics issues which can lead to readjustments to its inner reality (7). Often times the presence of 16 indicates a traumatic event forcing the self to look within for answers, or to look at a part of itself it did not know previously. It is the theory being put into practice, to test its feasibility in mundane reality. It represents the purging of the past to decide upon the new course to be taken. It is important to keep a link between the conscious and subconscious minds open in order to understand any dysfunctional behaviors that may show up. It is more comfortable to readjust one's self on their own rather than have the universe do it for you. This number can be a test of conscious awareness of one's unconscious self.

+7

16

-5

The key lesson of the 16 is the growth of the inner self. This requires one to face its fears, face what it has been avoiding. Life may seem to always present 16 with problems, but that's because the problems are within the self; reality merely reflects back what already lies within. If this is willfully ignored, then loss increases (-5) until a shock forces one to do so. Alternatively, the 16 may choose to paralyze its emotions in order to not confront itself through substance abuse and other modes of escaping reality. This is a sign of cowardice.

However, not all is doom and gloom with the 16. It purges out accumulated negativity gathered during its experiences in the past. While there is no growth without pain, in the end the 16 is much healthier than it was to begin with, if it chooses to cleanse the internal part of itself. The 16 is also very analytical and has the ability to get to the bottom of a situation, if its emotions do not cloud it. It is more concerned for love and others issues, or anything it feels is important.

17/8

The self under analysis, creating strategies and/or uncovering truths of the material and spiritual worlds. This number seeks a spiritual connection within itself to better understand its existence vis a vis the universe, or the creation. By connecting with its inner self, it can begin to see the workings of a higher power. Because of these leanings, this number may be religious to many varying degrees, or they may have their own independent spiritual beliefs or understandings. "As within, so without" speaks volumes about this number. It almost seems to live within data, and can sometimes be obsessed with "progress." This number has a strong faith that, once found moves them forward with conviction. The 17 must come to terms with materialism and its illusionary aspects. This number may bring wealth of both worlds, but it must not become influenced and controlled by said wealth.

+8

17

-6

This desire is due, in part to the urge to shelter those undergoing negative adjustments (-6) like it had gone through in the past, and if not for loved ones then for itself. Money is drawn to it for good and/or bad (8) and it'll have to deal with the inner understanding of making and losing money. The 17 can organize its outer life if it first organizes its inner life full of truths and facts beforehand. One of the most common pitfalls for a 17 is its seeming lack of emotions (-6). It can get so caught up in its mind with analysis that emotions become consciously ignored. While the emotions are there, they need to be expressed or outbursts could result. If the lessons from the 16 haven't been positively learned, then unethical practices may also result leading to possible run-ins with the law. If the opposite, a strong desire to uphold the law may also be found here, along with a willingness to defend its community from any intrusion. One must be careful to not strive for power alone or for selfish reasons. Power not only corrupts, but it controls.

18/9

18/9 is about the balance between materialism and the spiritual ideal. Unfortunately, most often the former is more recognized. In either case, wherever the 18 shows up in a chart, it is destined to be an active part in one's life. Hyperactivity and/or hypersensitivity may be a problem. They may also be dreamers who have a hard time accepting reality as it is and prefer to do nothing. It is important to watch your health, as those with this number may have fragile health concerns. In the occult, the number 18 is often linked with war and destruction. Those with this number will need strong faith in all areas to succeed. Depending on the orientation, it can bring possessiveness or detachment to material things.

+9
18
-7

The 1 which is about self initiative, independence and original ideas is embracing the 8, which is about taking those ideas and either implementing or discarding them. This results in evolution or destruction. Obviously, analysis is required in order to ensure that the ideas are fool-proof and will benefit the world for a better cause. This is where the -7 comes in. This number can easily see life wearing rosy-colored glasses, refusing to look deep down and realizing the truth of such things. Such realities will only break in the end and cause the suffering -7 is known for. But it is all to gain a better perspective of the world around us, as the +9 tells. Much wisdom will be gained through your experiences as long as you have the eye to see them. It is important to keep an eye on your health at all times. If it remains possessive to something then it can compound to dysfunction and illness unless it is released.

19/1

The number 19/1 is known as a Karmic Number by some Numerologists, alongside such numbers as 13/4, 14/5 and 16/7. It is generally believed that wherever these numbers show in a chart, it is tied to negative behavior in a past life that must be reconciled in this life. In this case, it is the misuse of power. The proper use of power must be learned in this life, often times at the expense of one's independence. He will have to learn that one cannot do everything by himself, and will learn the power of working with others. Through others, one will be able to achieve independence. Outside of this karmic number concept, the number 19 is the self being tested in its own power. It must learn to balance itself with the rest of humanity.

According to the Tarot traditions, the number 19 is associated with The Sun. These people have brilliant and radiant personalities that infuse positivity in any situation they encounter. Their enthusiasm can propel them into leadership positions. They can achieve what they desire against immensurable odds due to their self confidence and positive outlook on life. Negatively, 19 is associated with grand schemers who lie to gain material wealth. Excessively pompous, they cannot see beyond their own faults.

+1
19
-8

Here the 1, the originator of ideas is testing his power in the world. Wisdom is gained through experience as indicated by the -8, and this results in fresh new starts. When something new must be learned, their progress slows down until it is learned, then it continues in either the same or a different direction. Lived negatively however, the -8 is known for corruption, greed and a desire for power and all its consequences. Not everything can be bought or traded on the dollar, and relationships are a great example of this. It needs to slow down, and realize that there is always something new to learn. Progress for 19 tends to happen in spurts rather than a long continuous duration. It must remember to work with others, and respect their positions in life. One cannot work alone and expect to reach the top of the hill by itself with no help at all. This is an ideal, and not grounded in reality.

4-2 – 20-29

20/2

The number 20/2 does not first reduce into its counterpart 11, such as its cousins 29 or 47. This makes 20 a very sensitive number and it must learn to control these tendencies in order to function in the wider world. It is diplomatic and can see both sides of a situation. You will learn how to make the best decisions in your lifetime. Some decisions only come from past experience. You will learn to properly use the weights and measures in your mind to help decide the best course of action. The 20 can be easily influenced by others unless it learns to discriminate between actual advice and emotional manipulation. This is a good number for a counselor or adviser, or someone who can wield the powers of others behind the scenes. Negatively, it is a schemer and creates conflicts for its own interests.

+2
20
-2

This is one of the octave numbers, which is any compound number containing a zero (10-90). Here, the same number is found through the addition and subtraction process. This indicates that the greatest strength is also the greatest weakness. The sensitive 2 is stopped short by its own oversensitivity, or the diplomat is held back over own perceived insensitivity of others. It is easy to feel defeated with this number, especially since all that effort may be thrown back as criticism for so-called bad behavior. But with a keen perspective, these situations can be seen for what they are: opportunities for growth and bettering one self. It then becomes a learning experience, understanding that life is showing us how to perform our lessons in a better way. 20 must not take this personally, but understand that it is bettering itself. Otherwise, hypocrisy can result, saying what you want (or should be doing) then doing the opposite out of the fear of change.

21/3

The 21/3 is learning to work within the limits of not only itself, but of nature. Life can seem to be an uphill struggle at times, but the hurdles are well worth the accomplishments that come in the end. As long as the eye is set on the prize and ones believes it can obtain it, than it will. Its enthusiasm and positive motivation will greatly help it towards its goals. 21's worldwide perspective can only help in this regard as long as it stays positive. It should remain tenacious and integrated in its work and success should be achieved. With this number, it is best to not scatter talents on frivolous activities, especially if one can't afford to do so.

+3

21

-1

Clearly, the issue of self initiative is of prime importance here. The level of self confidence will determine how well 21 can function in society. Sensitivity and procrastination must be turned into will power. This number works well when it is continuously active. It should not be doing nothing for long periods of time. Social norms may challenge one's impetus. Your presentation will help you greatly, especially when overcoming your obstacles. Your image and how you control it can impress those within your circle if used correctly. Do not let laziness give you an excuse to act selfishly. Excuses will only undermine your character. Escapes such as alcohol and sex only work temporarily and in the end just drain vital energy. The key is to learn to persevere in the face of all opposition. Learn to face the obstacles head on and ones life will improve.

22/4

Widely considered to be the highest Master Number by many authors, it has been glorified as a number that builds large institutions and big projects, and as a result has not been thoroughly explained except by a handful of authors. Many have the perception that the 22/4 is the ultimate potential of sorts and resign themselves to this fact, as if using this as an excuse to not understand the number further. Who could understand the so-called "top dog" number unless one had it in their chart? The truth is that the 22/4 is neither the top Master Number nor the number that signifies the ultimate potential, for potential lies in the choices and integrity of the individual. The numbers are a guide as to the makeup of the individual, but if a person cannot integrate himself properly, then none of it matters.

Nevertheless, the 22 is a hard working number who in some ways is destined to achieve something in life. The question is whether he works in physical reality or simply works inside of his own mind. If he's a dreamer, he only wakes up to the dangers around him when they knock on his front door, and by then, it's too late. The tarot equivalent of this number is The Fool.

+4

22

-0

22 is a Master Number and thus its anatomy is a bit different. Master Numbers are the only types of numbers where the negative value equals -0. This indicates that the challenges of all the other single cardinal numbers must be dealt with. This also includes a "-9," which indicates problems with idealism and being overzealous, but also from living inside one's own world, separate from reality. With double sensitivity and cooperation, it can either build great ventures with others or be severely limited by its own inhibitions. These inhibitions are caused by great emotional turmoils that stem from the making or breaking of one's ideals of the world, indicated by the -0. Thus a more realistic viewpoint of reality must first be established before this number can begin to build something with others. And this is exactly what this number does: it brings together large groups for a common constructive goal, usually practical in origin for the betterment of everyone involved. It is due in part to the 22's selflessness that all of this is able to happen. Selflessness is a common trait in Master Numbers working in the positive, which is one reason why they are difficult to work with. Negatively, guard exploiting the group for profit and avoid corrupting your ranks for the sake of material goods.

23/5

23/5 is a very quick, clever and witty number that can do well in the material world. A key part of this number is exercise: it not only helps to keep your physical components flowing, but it keeps your ideas of the mental world flowing as well. 23 is an excellent communicator and knows how to get its ideas across. It must constantly live in a lively and ever changing environment, as it absolutely hates stagnant situations. 23 is friendly with others, but it must guard against being too thick headed and strict. 23 is the type of number that can end a fight relatively quickly. It must watch out for its selfishness: it can take them on a whim and they wont even know it before its too late. Escapism and thrills such as alcohol, food, drugs and sex can lead to addictions and loss of health if left unchecked.

+5

23

-1

The cooperative 2 is focused on socializing and working with others within group dynamics. This leads to adventures and many unexpected experiences. Because of the -1, this can be a great leader if used in the positive, effectively able to direct large groups for a common goal. It is able to direct the dynamics of its social sphere. It is also one of the numbers that loves to throw a great party and enjoy itself with other numbers. Dominant and forceful, this can problems in relationships (unless the other was fine with it). Like its counterpart 32, it must be careful not to step on too many toes. 23 can be cowardly at times, especially when will power has not been fully developed. This is a shame, because will power can open many doors to greater experiences. This number must learn to be adventurous and to go with the flow. It should not think about taking advantage of others for its own benefit: this will only result in karma in the long run. It should think about others positive attributes and how it can weave its abilities with theirs.

24/6

24 is a family vibration, chiefly rooted in the domestic scene. It has a tendency to be cared for by other numbers. It loves to see things grow, and this can be anywhere from children, animals and/or the garden. Indeed, this number tends to have children, or at least be surrounded by them. It must be careful not to let its fears sway its better judgment. It longs for a connection with nature, so living in the countryside would be more preferable than the city. They are empathetic, and ready to help others in need. It must be careful not to dominate others under their will, and allow others in the household freedom of expression. Negatively, they may try to manipulate the environment to their own advantage. While this number bears more responsibilities than many of the other numbers, it does so with a loving heart and the recipients are thankful for their service.

+6

24

-2

This is a very home loving number. It strives for conservatism and traditional family values, as the cooperative 2 is focusing on the constructive and traditional 4. It loves with a generous heart, and many relationships thrive under this number. Being composed entirely of even numbers, it is very receptive and is taken care of by others. The problem is its timidity and oversensitivity, which gives way to fears and insecurities. The -2 in this position indicates a co-dependent attitude in life. It finds living on its own very difficult, and it needs constant companionship. It must learn to love others not based upon its own fear. In this light, the 24 may be insensitive to the beliefs of others and close itself in. It needs a strong partner it can trust to help show them otherwise. Relationships are a two way street. It can have intense dreams and premonitions to use in its waking life.

25/7

25 is a number that cannot sit still. It needs adventure in order to quell its thirst for more knowledge. 25 relies on spiritual insights, faith and inner wisdom. It is only by understanding the self that one's obstacles may be overcome. This is one of the reasons why 25 has a hard time expressing its emotions. As a result, in the negative state, they like to stir up trouble as a way of expressing their inner turmoil. The only solution is to quell the turmoil within themselves. But once they've found the truth, they can be very lively. This can be a warrior vibration, as it represents relationships in turmoil, water and fire mixed together. This number will also see much travel. It must be careful to not be too egotistical or negative experiences will begin to pile up.

+7

25

-3

The cooperative two is focused on freedom and adventure. This builds a deeper understanding of life, which often times is like a journey. This number must learn how to control its demeanor. This is because of the -3, which indicates an inability to express themselves properly. As a result, the self expression associated for 25 is often either very controlled, or very jumpy and strange. The sensitive and emotional 2 and the active and adventurous 5 are vying for control, so a compromise between these two energies must be established. Both must be channeled properly in some way, and a more cool and calm manner can develop. This usually occurs after many experiences help build the personality. Negatively, 25 is egotistical and causes conflicts with others.

26/8

The 26 takes care of greater responsibilities. You learn about the world around you through experience, and this is how you develop your self-confidence. It can be impulsive and must learn to develop self control. It is very enthusiastic and knows how to fit into any situation. They are very loyal and faithful. Often times it is associated with talkers and excellent communicators. It deals with others easily and freely, but must be careful to not be taken advantage of. Material expansion and acquisition is a constant focus. Negatively, it likes to cause mischief and it can be very superficial. This can be a karmic number, so whatever this number does can "come back around" to them at some point in time.

+8

26

-4

This number has lessons based upon the earth numbers +8 and -4. This indicates a strictly materialistic personality who believes in the world of what they see. Superficiality is not uncommon here. It is very physical and could well in sports or the military. It has a general persistence that can lead them to success. However, the -4 indicates someone sticking to the tied and true when there are better options available. Essentially, a stick in the mud. It can be thick headed, especially with the +8. Often times, only life experience can show them otherwise. It must base its conclusions on facts and not on unwanted fears and insecurities. It is easy going, but should not make excuses to be lazy or indolent. Instead, it should push forward with its plans. Helping others with generosity can help further its own goals. It should take care to not have too much of anything and to share their abundance when needed.

27/9

The number 27 is very creative and original. It thinks on its own while weighing in the opinions of others, but in the end it follows its own ideas. It is beginning to understand life on a spiritual level, developing empathy. As a result, it likes to help other people with their problems. It has leadership abilities. Negatively, 27 can be thoughtless and barren, unable to come up with any ideas. This can lead to indecision. 27 lives with simplicity and honesty, and it also has an artistic sense. It can become a teacher, able to share knowledge with others on a variety of subjects. It may also be involved in law, where disputes between two parties are resolved. It must learn how to use its ideas for the benefit of others.

+9

27

-5

This number make up is good for a teacher or for someone who likes to give good advice. It is a thinker and is often critical of others. It must learn to not set the bar so high that it wont be able to reach it. This can lead to escapism and overindulgence as indicated by the -5. Another problem is being able to find a profession and settling down with it. It knows how to deal with people and goes through a number of them. The challenge is being able to stick to them long enough to develop something worthwhile. Sort term relationships may be common unless that initial "thrill" is kept alive with new experiences and insights. You don't like to attach your feet, but at the same time you need something to work out from.

28/1

The number 28 is the representation of spiritual desire and material fulfillment blended together harmoniously. They are progressive and like to see its ideas through to completion. They have good judgment which is based off of its experience in life. It strikes out in life with boldness and courage and is ready to take a stand. It often gains back money and material comfort after giving of itself in the ventures of others. Negatively, 28 is too proud, dominating and reckless. It does whatever it takes to make money and can be unscrupulous. The key is determining ones goal, then setting out for it. It has a need to use its own ideas first and foremost, though it can incorporate others ideas if it suits their needs. There is a natural timidity that must be overcome with courage. This number reaps what it sows and should take action with this in mind.

+1

28

-6

The sensitive 2 is stepping up to the plate of achievement. It has a direction it will follow and it must put forth the effort to see it through. This is true whether it is a business plan or a home improvement project. In fact, the -6 here indicates domestic problems because of 28's dominating nature. In the extreme, it means being overbearing on others and being difficult to live with. It does not start friendships easily because it does not like sharing its emotions. It is often too obsessed with its own agenda for making itself a name. It needs to learn not to smother the emotions of others with their own, thinking they have the right of way to everything. Respecting the independence of others can allow proper emotional expression. Then it can set out on its own, using their emotions wisely. If in the positive, this number can achieve a lot for many people.

29/2

The number 29 serves as a Master Number. This number demands more than others do. It is very demanding, but it is also very indecisive and anxious. It needs to learn to make up its mind in key situations. It has an ability to look beyond the ordinary world and see the use of its abilities.

Numerically, the number represents "wisdom when dealing with others." They have excellent ideas, and often times they are artists or inventors. Negatively, 29 has a hard time expressing itself. Fears, pride and anxiety build up and nothing is able to get out. This may lead to several disorders. But once the 29 confronts their fears and gain self confidence, they can enlighten the world around them with their visions.

+2

29

-7

2 and 9 together indicates dealing with others on some type of scale. This scale can be as small as a work group or as large as an audience. Either way, it is all about the cooperation within a group dynamic of some kind. Since working with groups constructs a hive mind, self analysis will be lacking which is indicated by the -7. If kept in check and the holder recognizes the importance of self analysis gaining new perspectives, his conclusions can only help keep the group dynamic together. Otherwise, if the group is simply allowed to superficially drift on notions and assumptions and too afraid to look inside of themselves, events may begin to rock the foundations, which will force analysis in any case. The self sacrificing nature of the 9 also cannot be ignored here. The 2 is chiefly focusing on the 9, and sacrifice may be a bit much at times for the already complacent 2 who often acts like a doormat in many affairs. Once again the -7 rears its head: faith in one self. But once it finds its spiritual self, 29 operates on a whole other level.

4-3 – 30-39

30/3

The number 30 indicates a life of conventional living. Where ever it is found, it indicates cleverness and skill. It brings material comforts, but 30 is idealistic and may shun all of this for some religious or personal ideal. It is found in many vocations, from lawyers and judges to actors and musicians. This expresses the duality of the 3 itself, that of simple conventional living, versus expressing one self in the face of conventionality. It is important for this number to control its sexual energy in a practical manner, otherwise it may easy go out of control. 30's charm and charisma may heavily depend on this. In either event, 30 brings happiness into the lives of many people.

+3

30

-3

This is known as an octave number, which is any compound number that ends with zero. It is the beginning of the double number sequence, and represents best the single digit found within a decade of double numbers (the number 1 in 10-19, etc.) In every case, an octave number's greatest strength is its greatest weakness. Therefore, in order to express itself correctly in the arts, it must first know how to keep itself disciplined and focused on one goal at a time so that it doesn't scatter its energy. It cannot express itself if it scatters itself in frivolous activities. Likewise, if expressing the 30's conventional nature, it needs to keep itself within conventional means in order to do so. Therefore, it should be no surprise that octave numbers often become hypocrites, saying the positive trait of one number and doing the negative of the same number. The 30 especially needs to be careful as it likes to talk and needs to say only what it practices. The danger is saying what it should be doing, and in reality is doing the opposite.

31/4

The number 31 is a creative force seeking to establish itself upon the material plane. It is skillful in organizing people together into a cohesive whole, and has a desire to coordinate whatever it gets into. They go after their goals with tenacity, though may face dangers of being overworked. Many would prefer to have their own business, where they do not have to subject their independence under another, or at least work towards a high level position in a corporation where upper management is not so stringent. They have a great dislike towards dishonest people and will not be afraid to point this out. Oftentimes they will come across dangers unexpectedly: these may be avoided if they listen to their intuition. Their home life is very important to them. They can be cheerful and optimistic to be around, but nasty when the opposite: the key is balancing these two extremes.

+4

31

-2

Here, the creative 3 focuses on self achievement, attainment and independence which produces a constructive effort (+4) towards their goals. This number cares for the unity of a group towards a constructive goal. They understand the struggles and limitations of material reality and work to understand how to best harmonize themselves with natural law. The key catalyst towards this effort is cooperation with others (-2), which is something they strive to achieve. It does not mind helping others out on their own endeavors, especially if the goal requires multiple people to accomplish a project. Keeping themselves balanced is important, as life can throw them to extremes and set off nasty behaviors if they are not careful.

32/5

The number 32 signifies an outgoing and creative individual (3) seeking to relate to others (2). This number tends to be individualistic and one of a kind. Their ability to look at life positively makes them very versatile and adaptable in their dealings. They often have a large skill-set to use at their disposal, and the number 32 will demand they be flexible to the ever changing demands of their environment. This number is charming and dominant in conversation, it knows what it wants and is not afraid to get it. The downfall of this number is personal pride: it turns would-be friends into enemies, leaving this number to wallow in its despair. Positions of authority deteriorate the personality of 32 if not kept in check.

+5

32

-1

Here, the 3 is focused on cooperating with others. This results in extensive networking, changes, and new adventures. The key here is the sense of self, for this widely determines which way this number will swing. Is he self confident? Is he willing to engage with others? How determined is he in obtaining what he wants? Is he being serious, or is he just here for the frills? This number has a danger with obsessive self satisfaction in the forms of food, drugs, money sex and otherwise. This is a danger for all +5's, but with a -1 the independence from such a lifestyle may be a struggle. The key is to associate one self with the right people, and using group dynamics to learn how to get from a situation what you desire.

33/6

33 is well known to Numerologists as a Master Number. Traditionally, it has been depicted as the highest Master Number that could be achieved, ignoring other multiples of 11 (44, 55, etc.). As a result, it has been called the number of Christ consciousness and was given divine aspects. In reality, the number 33 functions just like any other number, albeit with Master Number characteristics. This number is a leader because it has great compassion and understanding towards others. It operates on a higher level of love and creativity. People are drawn to its seemingly friendly nature and indeed, the 33 loves to relate to others. It is extremely creative and imaginative and it is not unusual to find this number in the arts. However, it requires great courage in order to jump over every obstacle. This is turn may require sacrificing something to see it though, for others or yourself. But 33 does what it loves and is not discouraged.

+6
33
-0

33 is a Master Number and thus its anatomy is a bit different. Master Numbers are the only types of numbers where the negative value equals -0. This indicates that the challenges of all the other single cardinal numbers must be dealt with. This also includes a "-9," which indicates problems with idealism and being overzealous, but also from living inside one's own world, separate from reality. -0 is a challenge that denotes a high degree of sacrifice, conclusions, evolution and gullibility. Negatively, they try to help everyone they meet, but life's circumstances will show them better. Trying to get along with the rest of the world and its people is also a common problem.

This is one reason why the Master Numbers are so difficult to live with. It takes time for someone with this number to acquaint themselves with it. Often times, Master Numbers are not fully expressed until later in life for this reason. This includes associating one self with every challenge apparent in the -0. This also includes the double 3, the 3 focusing upon itself, its same power doubled. If used correctly, a high level vibration of love (the +6) is manifested.

Two different personality types are often in association with 33: one that is a leader who is not afraid of living in the higher realms of love and sacrificing themselves for the betterment of a cause they believe in, and one that scatters their energies frivolously in sexual escapades, drug addictions and other self destructive behaviors.

34/7

34 is a very practical and formal number. It does not like to step outside of the personality it shows others, though breakdowns may occur behind closed doors. It is about orderly growth and sticking to the facts. In fact, 34 can be relied upon to give straight honest answers to most questions as it lays out the facts as they are. Like all 7's, it is introspective and if not spiritual, then philosophical. It is a very patient number as it understands that the best things in life take time to acquire. It travels much, and its journeys only add to its growing pool of wisdom. Negatively, it is selfish and lacks common sense. It can be too energetic and can burn out before getting started on a project. It must control its impulsiveness.

+7

34

-1

The +7 and -1 suggest a go-getting personality, one who is not afraid to get what they want when self confidence is secured. However, therein lies the danger. There are very few numbers here that suggest a harmonious family life; there is no sensitivity apparent, and compromise is not an inherited trait (this also depends on which area of the chart this number is found). These abilities may have to be learned the hard way as life goes on. Indeed, at its worst the 34 is like a steamroller, plowing ahead towards its goal without any regard for the feelings of others and this is the real danger. Selfishness is the key issue here, and if not controlled, it will manifest dismal experiences that will force it into new perspectives.

35/8

The number 35 demands constant action and change. It travels constantly as it cannot stand to be cooped up in one place for long. It needs freedom and vitality. It is always moving and has a hard time slowing down. It tends to inherit wealth and power from other people. This number has a very forceful, yet balanced mentality. It needs to understand what the public wants in order to succeed. It possesses a calm outward appearance that belies the constant activity going on inside its head. Negatively, it is unreasonable to the point of being overly stubborn. It can be narrow minded and unable to move with the times. However, with increased vision, these problems can be avoided. 35 can be very athletic and it often participates in sports and the military, where split second actions are demanded. Negatively, the 35 manipulates others for their own selfish benefit.

+8

35

-2

The social 3 is embracing the outgoing 5, which produces effort, show of force and great physical stamina. This number moves, and is not afraid to get what it wants. It loves action, so much that it hardly has any time to slow down as things are constantly thrown its way. Depending on other numbers in the chart, this not only relates to physical activity but mental as well. Obviously, moving so fast forces us to overlook details and this is one of its problems, indicated by the -2. This may creep back on them as time goes on. Learning how to be sensitive to others will be another issue to overcome. It's natural to show others what you're made of and expect the same in return, but this is not always the case. Many other numbers are more laid back and inhibited. This is why respecting others positions in life is another key trait of this number. This number works and plays hard, and as long as it does so with similar numbers and respects their points of view, it's golden.

36/9

This is a number that goes through many obstacles but has the perseverance to overcome them. It is very kind and willing to help others. It has a very broad viewpoint. It is a survivor, and is able to go on no matter what burden is placed upon them. This is due to their excellent health, wide vision and compassion and understanding for others. People know they can trust you with responsibilities. Negatively, 36 weaves a web of lies. It becomes tempting for it to weave deceit wherever it goes, to its own detriment. It may suffer from emotional ups and downs. In some cases, this number can house geniuses, in the artistic fields or otherwise. It must learn to balance the duality it finds not only in itself, but within life in general.

+9

36

-3

All of the artistic, emotional and mental numbers are here: 3, 6 + 9 in each position. This affords a very wide range of vision and a great understanding of humanity. Because of the wide scope of its understanding, it may understand groups of people easier than individuals which may be more superficial. That is the challenge that the -3 represents here. The feelings that this number expresses are for everyone and trying to express them on an individual by individual basis may be a bit of a problem. At the same time, this is something that may be genuinely desired, so learning how to express their real feelings will help them immensely. Also, when it struggles for a cause, it should not do so just because of social obligations or elevating their status in society. They have to be real about it.

37/1

The number 37 is about going within to find spiritual values, and then using these values to set an example for others to follow. As a result, it is very reserved and knows how to hold its temper. It values the home it lives in, as it know it is the base from which all of its endeavors are launched. This number is attracted to international endeavors. You know how to be diplomatic with others in order to obtain your own desires. You may have a skill in taking advantage of any situation. Because of its desire for power, it has a hard time with relationships. Negatively, the anger it keeps bottled up underneath the personality explodes into violence. It is immoral, treacherous and dishonest to a great extent. It is advised to channel this inner anger into constructive projects to avoid losing what it has worked for.

+1

37

-4

The 37 looks into itself in order to gain its modes of free thought. This can be a very spiritual number, though this is not always apparent due to other numbers in the chart. It knows how to express itself well, and does this well in isolation. From isolation come insights, which are used to help lead others through negotiation. The -4 indicates a danger of bottling up emotions, which manifests as increased bullheadedness. These must be learned to be seen for what they are and channeled appropriately. It is attracted to religious and spiritual subjects, philosophy and the arts. The -4 also indicates being able to care for one's family and home, but has a hard time expressing emotions required for a sustainable relationship. This is one reason why many 37's do not have a significant other, but this may be overcome through negotiating with their other half and explaining one's position, as they may not see its point of view on things.

38/2

38 has a far reaching vision that can see many things that others cannot. This is also true if working the inverse: it can live within its own fantasy world and deny what is happening outside of itself. In either case, it is very imaginative. It is spiritual and depending upon the position in the chart, likes to teach these principles to others. This number is heavily oriented with family and loved ones, which will be in abundance for them. It is artistically gifted, intuitive and sensitive. It tends to accumulate some form of wealth during its life. Negatively, it gets lost within its own mind and loses all touch with reality. It must remain focused on what really matters, and learn what really makes it happy. 38 reduces to the Master Number 11, which also supports intuitive insights and ideas, but also tensions with others. In this case, it is more along the lines of social and visionary aspects. It further reduces to 2, as all digital rooted 2's above 20 first reduce to 11.

+2
38
-5

The creative 3 is engaging the 8 which is of wealth, strength and material vision. This number may have problems staying grounded in reality, especially when it comes to relationships. It desires them greatly, but it builds its own preconceived ideas about them that may be far from what they really are. It needs to learn to ground itself and gain a true perspective of the situation. Often it is preoccupied by their visions which come through their dreams or perhaps other psychic experiences. The 3 sees a vision and its imagination goes ballistic, something that needs to be controlled. The imagination cannot be stifled, but it must be allowed to constructively flow through one's life so that it benefits them instead of denying them the happiness they deserve. The key is channeling the imagination into some type of life work that will give the 38 a proper perspective on mundane reality. The +2 signifies one who can see both sides of a situation and desires to cooperate with others, but must learn how to do this. The 3 and the 8 behind the 2 indicates a number that wishes to connect with others in some form of expression or creativity. The negative -5 is a number that may lie, cheat or otherwise prove unfaithful unless this number is tamed. It indicates an overindulgence or some form of addiction, whether it be food, drugs, sex or otherwise.

39/3

This is a number that wants to love all those that surround it. It desires an atmosphere of peace and contentment, surrounded by family and loved ones. It leads a long and healthy life. It always finishes what it starts. Romantic and inspired, it chases dreams that it wishes to make a reality. Negatively, 39's are liars who telling tales that interweave between fact and fiction. Then, they forget about ever telling them. They have a rigid code of conduct they place upon themselves in every situation. It may have artistic tenancies but it must learn to keep its interest stimulated, otherwise it may move on to other projects. Negatively, it can have great difficulties with relationships. This number is like a shell full of potential, but the shell makes loving others and even one self trying.

+3

39

-6

This is a number that is all about loving relationships. The creative three is swimming in the ideals of the nine and nit picking the best dream for itself. Because of this, it often creates atmospheres that it likes to emotionally control. To other numbers, this can be irritating. It may do anything to keep this atmosphere afloat, even lying profusely. At this point, the 39 must realize that doping others on their theories will not win them the loving relationship they desire. Relationships are a two way street and require honesty and integrity. When it has established a fair and loving atmosphere, then it will be able to express what it desires and have its partner be open to it. This number can also be very selfless when called to be.

4-4 – 40-49

40/4

The number 40 represents obstacles that must be cleared in order to reach an objective. However, these obstructions can be seen as part of a purification cycle that helps to better one's life, especially if the right viewpoint is taken. This is a number that is also about patterns and life cycles, and how to construct the best ones for every day living. Sustainability and predictability also fall under this number. It is a hard worker that believes in a square deal. It represents tests of the self, of temptations and vices dealing with substance and the flesh. Negatively, this number may be lazy, wasteful and selfish. It may have a bad attitude about the limitations it must learn to live with. Compassion for others returns in like kind and 40 is a number that is depended upon by many to build their homes and businesses.

+4
40
-4

40 is an octave number, which means its greatest strengths are its greatest weaknesses as well. Therefore, all the strengths of the 4 are here: material planning, orderly growth, establishment of predictable patterns and so on. However, therein lies the weakness. It may become so obsessed about these things that they may do the same things over and over again and they may become boring. It needs to learn how to smell the roses once in a while and to simply enjoy life. Breaks in their routine revitalize their energies, and if they plod on without rest they can burn out, or perhaps a situation will occur that will make it rethink its routine. In any event, they will seek to become highly educated in the subjects that they like. Study is required to master them. Any education that reflects orderly growth and discipline is attractive to the positive 40.

41/5

This is a number of family and material pleasures. They are about the well being of their families to the point of being overprotecting of them. It deals in sensuality, and care must be taken not to overly indulge the senses. Otherwise, your creativity may suffer. Your overflowing love showers all those around you and you always have plenty to give to others, whether it be your love, your help or your time. This number usually has outstanding health unless it indulges in the senses. It often gets married and has an abundant family. It must remember to remain flexible in the face of changes. 41 represents fertility in all its forms. 41 experiences tests of integrity. It must avoid the hypocrisy of seeking honor and power in less honorable ways and using power for one's self. Indeed, selfishness is its greatest pitfall.

+5

41

-3

The builder has ideas it wants to try out. These ideas overflow for others to take benefit from, which is one of the reasons why this is a great family number. It needs to be doing something useful, indicated by the 1 which stands for productive action. Being unproductive kill sits drive, which is too often caused by the scattering of energies in many directions, as indicated by the -3. Self indulgence is another danger, and this includes the common vices such as alcohol, sex and food. They generally try to create a loving environment that others can find peace in. Negatively, this number is associated with get rich quick schemers and gamblers looking to take advantage of others. It is then reckless with its spending and accrues debt for the thrill of the ride. Taking responsibility for the self is highlighted here. The power it acquires should be used for the good of others.

42/6

This number is loving and affectionate with a good eye for detail that others may easily overlook. It has a strong desire for the family life and much of its time is devoted to needs and responsibilities of said family. They strive to be an accepting member of their community and may have latent artistic abilities. They are more comfortable conforming to the values of their loved ones and community instead of indulging in radicalism, preferring the homely and loving comfortable life.

+6

42

-2

Consequently, the 42 is often unsure of itself and needs the support of stronger numbers to help maintain inner stability. It can have trouble making decisions (-2), especially if it is afraid. However, they are also great protectors and will stop at nothing to make sure that loved one are safe from harm. Their warm and understanding nature makes them a natural magnet for those that need an ear to speak to. It must be careful not to be too manipulative and step into the business of others. They must respect the boundaries of other people's lives. 42 is the kind of number that looks for a partner early in life, as it's the love connections it has with others that makes its life more meaningful for them. While they can be grouchy in the negative, when they are positive they know that love can overcome all obstacles that may get in their way, and not to give problems more importance than they deserve. It does not fear or confront outsiders with this mindset, instead knowing how to negotiate with them.

43/7

The 43 likes to work alone, oftentimes in an isolated capacity. It uses its mind to analyze and solve problems, and to also create and execute projects in the physical realm. It seeks to express itself in a mental fashion. A graphic designer or a composer are examples of this. It may have a hard time getting started, fumbling about in its concepts of perfection and coverage of all the bases, but once it gets going it can be a long and hard worker. They become skilled in their craft in time and many may marvel at their creations, though the creator may remain elusive.

+7

43

-1

Because it spends so much time alone, it can often have esteem and worth issues especially if it does not socialize with its own kind. Meditation is a great help for this number especially, as it must remove any negative aspects of the mind that originated not from it, but from the outside world. It can be predisposed to exotic whims and desires that may not be a reflection of what they really want, but of what their ego self desires (-1). The lesson is to identify the ego for what it is and to not become subject to its whims, but to follow the wants of the core self. It must strike a balance between wallowing in despair and depression of its own fears and image issues, and of over exertion of will and ego. The 43 may become involved in religion in part to not only keep its own ego in check, but to explore its intuitive and mystical side as well and to establish for itself a purpose for existence.

44/8

44 is another "Master Number" as they are popularly called in most Numerological works, though here a better term for them would be "Mirror Numbers" or "Illusion Numbers." In this case, 44 represents the illusion of limitations. The realism that can be seen and believed by the eye is a part of this illusion if it chooses this physical path, for the purpose of attainment and accomplishment of objectives. In this case, they are hard workers and unafraid to sacrifice what is necessary to achieve what it desires. It must guard against sacrificing their loved ones for material benefits, however.

+8
44
0

Like all such numbers, the 44 has a 0 challenge. If this challenge is not addressed and/or suppressed, the 44 tends toward a more physical focus which can lead to physical hardships as a result, having to hard to achieve anything that it wants. The military, business and careers dealing with integrating/disintegrating power fall under this category. However, if the 44 listens to its core inner self instead, it will guide it to the answers it seeks. The 0 can be interpreted to symbolize "divine emptiness," and when this enters the heart center the mind falls away and so do the illusions in one's life, leaving what is actually real behind. This is true for all illusion numbers. When the illusion drops and the ego steps aside, the 44 can choose how to be of service to either itself or to others.

If they choose the latter, then it uses its knowledge of the laws of nature to help provide for others or to help make the world a better place. If the former, then it uses this knowledge to its advantage, yet a constant greed forces it to always seek out material wealth to possess or devour. Compassion for others is one route all positive Illusion Numbers have in common, and can serve as a gateway from moving from the negative to the positive.

45/9

45 is a number that is synonymous with the worker undergoing personal growth, and all that entails. That's not to say it is in no way mystical: 45 has definite mind abilities if one chooses to utilize them. However, since personal growth is equivalent to change, this number tends to have it rough around the edges. The 4 and 5 are diametrically opposed in concept: the 4, limitations, work and discipline, and the 5, change, personal growth and constructive freedom. When two opposing digits come together like this, the resulting number tends to be difficult in experience and application. However, if one decides to learn what 45 has to offer, they will find that it is well worth the effort.

+9

45

-1

The 45 is a learning experience that results in higher learning and wisdom, empowering themselves to learn more. On the negative end, this number can lead to catastrophic losses, deflating the ego self and challenging self initiative (-1). Experience can be a harsh teacher, especially if one's principles or ideas have not yet been put into practice. Ultimately, it is out own drive and determination to succeed that keeps us going. The drive to learn propels us to become better than who we were before.

As a result of their experiences (which can include learning the hard way), people with 45 can often be severe with loved ones. They must learn to channel their anger in a more efficient manner. It is also important for this number to let go when it can no longer hold onto something. If it causes more and more pain, then it must be let go.

46/1

This number is independent: it knows what it wants and is not afraid to go get it. It is the result of an accumulation of experiences that, upon witnessed opens its emotional center (6) which then serves to propel itself forward (1). In a sense, it is the worker caring for a person, project or idea and giving it its own ideas, impetus and determination to see it through. They see any obstacles or setbacks as opportunities, and see new options to draw from in most situations. They prefer to take the lead in most areas of life as well, not comfortable being subordinate.

+1

46

-2

Because they tend to be head strong and sure of their ways, it can often be easy for them to be insensitive to others (-2). At its worst, they plow ahead without any regard to other people's well being. It is important to remember that other people are other selves, and to follow the golden rule: treat others like you want to be treated.

That being said, this +1 is kinder and more considerate than other +1's, though more set in their ways and more pragmatic and grounded. They tend to think about the past often when caught in melancholy; it is important for 46 to stay in the now and not lose itself by living in the past, or living in a time that was more auspicious for it. Athletic activities appeal to it and they like to spend time outdoors, whether in the wild or to tender their garden. Ultimately, they try to stay positive in every situation.

47/2

This is a number immersed in details. The analytical worker, structural analysis, matter and spirit are some ways to look at this number. It digs down to the bottom of every issue it faces and works to make the structure more harmonious than it was previously. For an individual, this includes matching one's structure with their spirit and negotiating (2) with both to reach a harmonious conclusion. This could also include uncovering aspects of self, structure or system not previously known, thus breaking illusion (11) and leading to enlightenment.

+2

47

-3

Both the 4 and the 7 are very internally focused on their work and detailed, oftentimes to an extreme. The -3 here is indicative of not being so critical, but to be more "loose" with their work and not letting detail make one too uptight and agitated otherwise, health issues might arise along with social disruptions. It must be careful not to ignore its social life for its work, otherwise important social skills that could help its career may be lost. A 47 that embraces its -3 challenge will learn social skills to advance its illuminated findings to a group, thus advancing its career.

Due to the amount of detail to process, 47 can often be a slow number, though it plods along at its own pace. When it learns to be itself socially, it can be a major force for change later on. This is especially true if the 47 takes the path of merging matter and spirit in some discipline. Realism meeting an unknown science is yet another example. Taking the spirit path instead, they may seek out a religious or belief system that matches their inner development. This path is typically solitary, which again leads to the -3 social challenge. Either way, they have a strong need to find answers.

48/3

The 48 is an easy number when it comes to work and routine, but it also represents the worker successfully reaching an achievement or goal, or making a presentation of his work to others. It is a make or break moment in the 40's decade. This is especially true for projects long developed, which now reach a culmination to see if they work in reality. If not, then they are discarded and 48 moves onto new ventures. If routine is not easy, then its often the other way: it takes effort and strength to get through the day.

+3

48

-4

The challenges faced with this number can threaten one's own inner stability (-4), leading to negative behaviors, such as skipping out or "passing the buck" if it feels it cannot fulfill a duty. The anxiety and apathy of having to meet a challenge may also propel 48 to turn to fancy and whim to forget about reality, a choice not recommended for this number as reality comes knocking hard for those when they do. Instead, it should look to the greater horizon and begin to wonder if life has more to offer it: maybe there is a new way of doing things that isn't yet well known After executing its projects into reality, it cannot help but wonder if there is something beyond what has been discovered thus far. If the -4 challenge is met, then its stability and discipline will lead this number into more creative lines of thought. As a result, this is another one of the artist numbers, though they prefer to address the realities of life and newer modes for the physical realist world. 48's must be careful that their ideals will actually fly in reality and not sink to the ground. When in the positive, 48 adds new ideas and creativity to the workplace, their ideas practical enough to be taken seriously and implemented.

49/4

This can be a very hectic number. It regularly embraces revolutionary ideas that may or may not change its entire structure. It has a need to be of service to an ideal that it believes will change how things are for the better. Oftentimes this ideal is to a cause larger than itself. It believes that the whole is more than the sum of its parts. It is the type that once it gets talking about something it likes, it doesn't stop talking for a while.

+4

49

-5

Its revolutionary ideas can often cause changes and sometimes chaos (-5) in society, especially when taken to the extreme with protests. Without wisdom, violence may be used to little constructive effort. It is important to use it for a constructive purpose, where the outcome is something more desirable other than absolute destruction. 49 may have to go out of its way and help others in need with little to no compensation in return, other than completing the work that needed to be done. Oftentimes it is the only one who could do the work at the time, either because no one else was available at the time or that the 49 was the only one who had the skills necessary. The positive 49 doesn't mind because it knows the effort is going toward the betterment of the whole. It may deal with authority figures and their use of power, in which the 49 will more than likely have better ideas for. Such experiences show it how much better things could be, or at the very least initiates the desire to ask such questions.

In the end, 49 begins to realize that a system must never remain stagnant, but be ever evolving into better forms. Stagnation leads to suffocation and death for the sake of what, the fear of change? (-5) Thus the 49 comes to understand that change itself is the only constant, and becomes the stepping stone into the 50's decade.

4-5 – 50-59

50/5

50 represents the great plunge into fundamental change, fluidity, experience, sensuality and especially learning. It has the strength and discipline to survive because it learned these attributes in the previous 40's decade. Otherwise, it is easy to become lost to the winds of change and spontaneity. The 5 focuses on the 0: the divine emptiness of everything and nothing. It is the first encounter with sch energy and thus seeks to find its own way with its own inner self.

+5

50

-5

Like all Decad Numbers, the Aspiration (+5) is the same as the Challenge (-5). This means that its greatest strength is also its greatest weakness. Since the self is just starting to move through the 5 energy, this is no surprise. What it seeks to understand (in this case change, experience, loss and sensuality) will also be its biggest weakness. If it does not use discipline to restrain itself, then this number is like a slippery slope full of carnal desires and substance which never seems to end, until one takes a goo look at themselves and wonder if there is anything beyond this? It takes change within to change what's outside. One sees others in relationships, with loves and good careers and wonders how people have all this

The key to understanding a decade of numbers is to look towards the next decade. In this case, it is responsibility, ethics, morals and love. Even if none of these are followed, self-responsibility never hurt anyone. Just as the 4 sought to understand the cause of limitations, strength and discipline, so does the 5 seek to understand the cause of change, seeming chaos and why sensuality seems to good.

51/6

The adventurous 5 seeks to establish its identity, its independence in the world. It realizes that in order to begin understanding the laws of change, one must first become self responsible. Here it encounters the energy of the next decade, that of love responsibility, community, ethics and morality. This can be an intense and chaotic number as the winds of change meets the fires of creation. It pushes to succeed in a world full of changing people, places and values. In the negative, this change turns into never ending entropy.

+6

51

-4

As the 51 seeks to establish some kind of base of operations, it tries to secure itself using its force of will, but unexpected events come around and their stability is threatened unless they assert themselves and take responsibility. What was learned in the 40's decade (stability, strength, limitations) is seriously being tested now with the -4 challenge. In the negative, 51 can be very aggressive, hard headed and can be hurtful to those around them. It may gain a list of enemies from this type of behavior, making its life more dangerous than it needs to be. A positive 51 minds the safety of those around them and does not go off on a thrill, endangering them. Law enforcement, rescuers and those working in careers related to safety may fall under this number. They provide security to those who are victims of loss. Oftentimes they may sacrifice their time and risk loss for the betterment and safety of others. When it is dedicated to a cause and is secure in its own strength and ability, then the 51 operates at its best. A loved one can help stabilize them, but this is a fiery and passionate love and so both must be careful when playing with fire.

52/7

The freedom loving and adventurous 5 combines with the sticky, touchy freely and detail-oriented 2. Where the 5 loves movement, action and change, the 2 is hesitant, shy and unsure. This can create bottlenecks or a "stop and go" quality unless one strategies their level of openness (7). This is more about the openness of the heart than it is of the mind. This openness leads to spiritual growth, either by itself or with others depending on their levels of trust. If it is not understanding of apparent conflicts, it can be very critical and opinionated, ensuring its isolation. If harmonious, 52 works with others to help achieve a common goal.

+7

52

-3

To help explain this idea better, lets take a look at the above chart. If the go-getter 5 works well with others, and is willing to open themselves to them, then their inner growth and understanding is greatly accelerated and they begin to feel a oneness to life around them. They harmoniously work with the crowds (-3) and set about to find answers to their problems. However, if the 52 is disharmonious, then all manner of ridicule is used to justify their own opinion, which is seen by them as correct and this leads to social ostracizing and evasion (-3). They become hermits with few to no friends, content with their own opinions and perspectives of life. If someone dares challenge their viewpoint, then their tongue can become a weapon, fueled by a raging interior volcano. In fact, 52 can have one of the sharpest tongues out of all the compound numbers if it is disharmonious.

It is important for the 52 to resolve its duality, for doing this will lead it to an inner peace. Conflict is merely the irresolution of duality, the lack of understanding harmonization of positive and negative polarity. Once this is understood, then the 52 can really begin to move in life. This is first done within as the +7 indicates, and as the poles harmonize, the realization arises that duality is merely an illusion. With this understanding reflected into outward reality, the 52 sets forth. They can become real movers of social change, entering politics or other high stake areas to see these changes implemented.

53/8

This number moves, and it moves fast. It does not like to slow down for anyone or anything unless someone else gives them a good reason to. It pitches, it throws, it likes to give someone that impetus to take action. It has a desire for social activity, to supercharge the social structure in some way that will become more functional in the long run for everyone, and not merely for their own whims. This can be as small as their own social circles, or as large as an entire society. One way is through sports, entertaining hundreds to thousands of fans. They tend to be positive people or at least have a positive attitude and they work to help keep up such an environment.

+8

53

-2

This is a kind of number that doesn't lay around beat around the bush: it goes for it and is not afraid to do so. It has the courage to face its obstacles and the strength to overcome them. 53 does not fear the unknown, but rather meets it head on and explores what it has to offer. Because of how much it moves, it tends to glide on the surface in life and at its worst can be very shallow to the point that it only believes what it sees. In this mode, it can rush into situations that are merely illusions (-2) of what its reality really is. This of course can lead to outburst of anger when it realizes the truth. It is important for this number to remain cooperative, especially in such negative moments. Denying reality is only an escape not a solution and if this is not addressed, then the 53 becomes increasingly dysfunctional which can lead to catastrophic results.

This number likes parties and other social gatherings, especially during its youth. As long as it is not running from something and is not insensitive to others, this is not overly a bad thing. Enjoy life, and have the courage to accept reality for what it is.

54/9

Is it wise to keep doing what we are doing? What could be improved upon? Facing situations that draw such questions creates wisdom, which the 54 appreciates. It asks questions and is in many ways an investigator. It is the traveler focusing on structures, systems, work and the reality of things in order to fulfill a humanitarian goal (9). After traveling this far in the 50's decade, this number decides to tweak its own engine (4) and work for the benefit of those in need before it continues on its way towards a final breakthrough. It must decide, on its own what parts to keep and what parts to throw away.

+9

54

-1

Fortunately, 54 can be a very mystical number and many of its answers come from the spiritual side of life. It relies on this and its inner resources to make decisions on its own and to work toward a greater purpose. It may have to or decide to do work that no one else wants to do. The work may be above or below them, but either way they should not fret and feel bad about itself (-1) for what needs to be done is for the greater whole (+9) and people will appreciate them for it. It is important for this number to not hold grudges for such energy often backfires upon the self. This number may be a traveling worker fulfilling various assignments, such as working with a humanitarian organization. It may also decide to be a mystic who seeks to help reconstruct the lives of others. Whatever the situation, the 54's best source of guidance is its inner self and/or a higher power, whatever it may be. It will help the 54 get out of rough times or from being misunderstood by others. Meditation can realign this number's path back to where it should be going and re-clarify its purpose.

55/1

This is the fifth "Master Number," or "Illusion Number" as they are called in Nick's Numerology. This number moves and moves fast, but unlike the 53 it is not bound by social conventions. It is free to do anything of its choosing, and if it is not it will work hard to make that freedom available. This number represents freedom of choice. It is a blending with ones will with a higher will if worked with balance. Otherwise, it can be aggressive and criminal, thinking it knows all the answers. This is a number that can not be controlled, and is in fact the least controllable compound number.

+1
55
0

This number carries with it a tremendous vitality that allows it to bounce back from any losses quickly. Like with all double digit numbers, it must look within to maintain its own balance and integrity (0). Otherwise, if selfishly followed this number is like a shotgun in whatever situation it encounters. If balanced, 55 is adaptable to every occurrence and knows how to deal with each situation. It is an explorer first and foremost on any and/or all levels of reality, whether it be the physical, mental, emotional or spiritual. It is a quick and sharp thinker that can exude a convincing and fearless personality that can convince others of its findings. Writers, spiritual gurus and even car salesmen are just some of the careers a 55 may lead. In the pythagorean system, the word "Numerology" equals 55, which tells of its rather independent nature concerning those numerologists who work within it. Each does their own thing and sets the standard to what they believe it should be. This is why there seems to be an inherent lack of unification concerning numerologists beyond the basic principles (Life Path, Full Name, etc).

And of course, one cannot talk about 55 without speaking of its tendency toward watershed events, sudden changes and apparent randomness. It is the turning point where something may be taken in a while new direction. For the spiritual, it is the understanding of one's will with a higher will of their perspective, given their level of development and understanding. This path is the more difficult to follow given the amount of entropy and randomness, but it is the most rewarding when it is taken with dedication.

56/2

Coming out of the turmoil of the 55, the 56 seeks balance and tranquility. What this means for them may differ for other people, so a sense of diplomacy and cooperation must be developed to learn the lessons of this number thoroughly. Harmoniously, it weaves through issues regarding responsibility with ease and knows how to deal with emotional issues with they prop up. They realize that there are consequences for every action. Without previous experience, they may hesitate to move forward or make a choice. There may seem to be so many options and not know which one to choose.

+2

56

-1

A lack of self confidence is often the cause for the above issues (-1). When it learns the proper use of will, then these problems become alleviated. When over balanced however, 56 becomes a nitpicker, always pointing out the tiniest flaws and bloating such issues out of proportion, believing them to be a threat to their harmony They should not worry about others so much, but approach them with an attitude they would like to be treat with themselves.

All of this happens because the 5, being the traveler and adventurer is encountering the 6 energy (responsibility, love, ethics) for the first time. Those with greater concern for others will embrace this energy and become involved in a large amount of intimate interaction. You could say they "dive right into it." They are learning the fundamentals of how their sensuality mixes with the energies of love, so misunderstandings and mishaps could occur, which will test their skills of negotiation and, failing that, possible confrontation. Admitting one's mistakes is not a weakness but a strength in that it shows honesty to the other. These events help u to become better at what we do and shouldn't be taken as a rejection of the self. Such occurrences happen because the explorer (5) is diving into its emotional self (6) which can enlighten or break illusions once held to be reality (11/2).

57/3

The traveler and explorer (5) dives into its inner self (7) to learn how to open its heart up to others (3). This number is unconventional to begin with according to society, as the sensationalist meets the mystery of the self. As they open up and discover who they really are they find having to choose between actions that help others or only themselves (12). This is a social vibration that bends more toward the exotic, refined and unknown areas of life. This number brings situations that require one to choose between opening themselves up or creating a fake persona. It bites at their interior, creating a need to socialize about it. Those that refuse to open up try to deny or talk their way out of a situation, creating confrontations if negative.

+3

57

-2

This can cause stress in relating to others (-2). What is found within may come out as a hot potato, difficult to handle, never mind delicately. If they end up hurting people's feelings, then it must use strategy (7) with the individuals in question to avoid this in the future. The strategist level is raised when 57's inner beliefs are changing or in a state of flux, which it will try to express to those around them, amid varying degrees of acceptance and/or rejection. Like all +3's, 57 likes to travel in its imagination, and it often makes use of it through a more refined discipline or art, such as a specialized painting style or innovative music. Either way, they seek mastery in their chosen craft which they feel best expresses their interior selves.

57's are often into philosophy and enjoy discussions of different ways of thinking and different belief systems, though it only takes what it feels aligns most with their interiors. 57's portends inner and outer trials, but it has good faith, then it knows that life will go on.

58/4

The versatile and skillful 5 meets with the number of achievement and accountability. 58 can have a slower pace than the other numbers of the 50's decade, because it knows if it goes too fast, it could burn out and crash. Karma comes to a head with this number, accumulating from previous experiences. The explorer meets the world of wealth (inner and/or outer), power and respect. This is one reason why 58 is known to be bullish, as the 8's temper is upon the sometimes reckless 5. This is especially true when it comes across restrictions, as any number in the 50's decade would prefer to just go, but this number must learn the restrictions of freedom. Combined with the 5, it can become so versatile, ambitious and busy that it needs to slow down a few notches or problems may appear in its path.

+4

58

-3

To be harmonious, this number must not be afraid to step up to the plate and get the job done. It should not fear others opinions, unless it is working for nefarious purposes. Working within the earthly realm of realism, it will gather together knowledge and power that will be tested as to its proper use. It's busy schedule may cut into its social plans (-3) so it must not forget any social obligations that were originally scheduled. It must remember not to allow its sometimes pushy and gruff behavior to become unacceptable to the social standard. Law related issues may arise which will take some sharp thinking to work around, but its sense of justice will prevail if it sticks to the facts holds onto what is right. 58 has a tremendous amount of energy and effort to put into any project, and will often dedicate itself to seeing it through completion. It is important to leave people with their own freedom of choice and to not override their own will. This is especially true if an individual does not follow your own belief system or your way of thinking. If in the negative, it may seem like they are fighting alone against the rest of the world (-3) but if they stick to it (+4) and use the tools available, then they may integrate themselves with a new group of people with similar thinking.

59/5

This number can be as slippery as an eel and hard to hold on to. In fact, its hard to hold onto anything with 59, but that's not its focus. It is a traveler and will learn many things over the course of its journeys. It is interested in establishing a brotherhood with man, to seek out commonalities and to smooth out differences. 59 recognizes the world as its home, all humans equal to itself and does not tolerate prejudice or bigotry. It will learn what attitude of mind to have in every situation it encounters, which is critical in understanding the area it is in.

+5

59

-4

59 must be careful not to make promises it cannot keep. Because this number likes to fly everywhere and be like the wind that passes over the globe, it has a tendency to ignore the grounded reality beneath its feet (-4). A healthy dose of realism doesn't hurt anybody. 59 needs a base to operate from, though what this base will be depends upon their own ideals. It could be anywhere from an apartment, to a modern mansion to a tiny home to a houseboat or yacht...whatever they feel best fits their ideals. They prefer to have fluid careers where change is the only constant. Regardless of what it is, whether a tour guide or a stunt double, it'll more than likely involve travel. If feeling particularly giving of themselves, they may find the extreme areas of life to their liking, such as walking into a volcano, or hurricane/tornado hunting. Whatever "crazy" things they end up doing, it is important to remember to slow down and not go too fast in any situation without remembering their own personal safety (-4). It is fine to go fast and witness the extremes of life, but if it is outside of your own safety net and the safety of others, then that is the definition of recklessness. It has excellent healing powers, and like many of its cousins in the 50's decade bounces back from any setback with vigor. Relationships may be difficult with this number: they need someone as freedom loving as they are without the restrictions of typical relationships. Otherwise, 59's prefer to be bachelors.

This extreme experiencing of life is what sets the stage for the opening of the emotional self in the 60's decade.

4-6 – 60-69

60/6

The emotional self is the primary focus of the 60's decade, along with its attributes: responsibility, morality, ethics and most of all, love. The self realizes that experiences (5) are what lead to the opening of the emotional self (6), something that's deeper and more meaningful than simply physical whims. It brings its enjoyment of life to its home, which becomes more of an importance after seeing the amount of loss and extremism in the previous decade. The exploration of the emotional self begins with 60, in a safe environment where it is not vulnerable to being hurt as it learns to open up this aspect of the self.

+6

60

-6

60 is a Decad Number, and like all Decad Numbers its greatest strength is also its greatest weakness. This makes sense as the self is just beginning to experience the emotional self (6). It focuses on what has once been called the Cosmic Egg (0), or divine emptiness that's filled with the possibility of everything and the nothingness of creation all at once. Thus, 60 tends to accumulate many things to the point of hoarding. It needs to learn how to let go of things that no longer hold emotional value. This includes friends and relationships if necessary. What makes up a healthy relationship is something that comes as they go along their path. They must prevent themselves from being a doormat to others, a concept evolved from overwhelming experience, now defended against by protecting their emotions and integrity. Indeed, one must learn the lines between responsibility and being taken advantage of. Doing a job without bias or prejudice is another lesson for 60, who must realize that one's personal choices in life may not be logical, but for emotional reasons. The emotional realm often does not make sense to the mind, which tries to bridge the gap via ethics and morality. However, ultimately the mind must step aside so the heart can understand the full emotional realm on its own.

Up until now, the self explored its reality around it with increasing levels of freedom. However, with the opening of the emotional self which is a personal thing the self must learn to mind their own business regarding the lives of others, unless the other decides to share with them. If one does not begin to understand their emotional self, then they certainly cannot understand the emotional selves of others.

61/7

61 is like a cunning fox, sneaky and knowledgeable of paths and roots that few know about. It is the emotional self obtaining the will power to move forward, into its own self before doing so in reality as well. It prefers not to stand out from the crowd unless to make a point. The key to working with this number is balance: the balancing of the male and female principles within the self. Often it seems like two polarities within are at odds. The lesson is to harmonize both aspects together. When this is done, one fosters a greater sense of self confidence within themselves and a sense of androgyny develops.

+7

61

-5

This number is connected to law and justice perhaps as an inspiration to the male/female forces seeking balance within. It is deliberate and straight forward in thought and speech. It tends to have a difficult time with relationships and can often lose them (-5). One reason is due to balanced polarity, there is a lack of dependence upon another individual. 61 likes to work on its own, by itself or at least alone in its environment. It can happily live alone due to this, having the essential relationship inside of itself already. The idea is inner self-sufficiency. Anything that it does must be explained later on. It has a discriminating mind and has full control over its emotions. It may choose a mystic or a scientific life over one that would be considered "normal" to the rest of society.

62/8

The number of responsibility, morality and ethics (6) meets the number of cooperation, detail and illusion (2). As neither of these numbers have the male impulse to drive forward through blockages, the result is a form of entrapment, enclosed situations from which it must understand the meaning of. It consciously directs itself through power structures and manages with people in their various levels of power. Because the emotion here can be so overwhelming 62 may choose to rely on its mind abilities to direct itself, specifically its ability to reason. However, this can numb them to their emotions which are one of their greater strengths, and care must be taken that their mind does not blind them from the true reality before them.

+8

62

-4

This is a number that likes order and structure, as without it insecurity can develop (-4). It uses organization to not only manage its own environment, but to manage its own emotions as well. It must learn to be understanding of errors, and to not explode over minor details. Family is typically important for this number and they can be responsible parents, to a point. They must be careful not to marry out of materialism or from what the mind demands, but from what their heart tells them. If the heart is not followed, then often 62 lives a false reality until a catalyst forces the illusion to drop (2), and its actual reality can make or break (-4) this number. This depends upon their willingness to be accountable to achieve and whether they self-empower or self-humiliate (8). Oftentimes, their emotions will demand that they spend time alone to recuperate and balance (2) their inner selves. This is one of the few materialistic numbers that does this. Physical weight may be a problem for this number as both 6 and 2 like to accumulate and don't like to discard, in terms of emotions and experiences with others. Letting go of emotions that no longer serve any use is a good first step toward better health, for those interested.

63/9

The responsible, ethical and emotional self seeks expression, companionship and to experience the joie de vivre. True companionship is not found through the fake material world, and if the 63 believes everything that it sees, then it truly will be miserable. This number could be called the number of sorrow. This is true in its negative form, as a depressed 6 can wallow long in melancholy, brooding over what it "should" have. A positive 6 however will reexamine its social relationships and decide which ones it feels best fits their own inner selves and do not merely exist as a pleasurable whim: surely, the latter is bound to fall apart, just as fast as they came.

+9

63

-3

You come across an idea, but does it really suit you? It may be good on a whim or as a fancy, but does it align with the heart? This is the crux of one of the lessons of this number. The rise and inevitable fall of the ego self is strongly implied with this number. It is the awakening emotional self facing the fake ego self that may or may not have controlled the real self's actions in the past. Facing themselves, they can decide whether an emotional concept is real or false. This is most efficient in a healthy social setting, when longstanding questions or grievances can be brought to light and finally be settled. Through this, 63 finds which ideas are realistic enough to pursue versus those that won't be able to fly. The invalidation of some ideas may be heartbreaking, but holding onto them will only make the pain worse. It is best to let go if it does not serve your best interests. One may think of this number as cleaning up not just their outer environment, but their inner one as well. The more an emotion goes against the inner self, the greater the pain will be. This number may channel its emotion into creative endeavors as a way of letting go, or to express itself in a way that mere socializing cannot do. It must remember not to be too negative in its expression (-3) as others' positivity are on the line, not just its own. By benefiting others, one benefits themselves.

64/1

The emotional self meets limitation, hard work and effort. It will need initiative, impulse and some confidence to set the record straight and make it on its own. It works to achieve its own standing in the world, one it hopes reflects its moral and ethical code. In many ways, 64 represents the purging of old emotion to make room for a whole new foundation. With strength, it pushes forward to build a better future for itself and its loved ones. Unless it knows it cannot win, it does not back down from a challenge. If negative, 64 tries to coerce favors from others and behaves like a control freak. This number can be very strong-headed and closed to others opinions until it is too late.

+1

64

-2

The prime challenge of 64 is insensitivity (-2) and making sure they don't step on people's toes for their own benefit. They have a unifying force that can work with the best interest of others in mind, or at least what it thinks its best for them. They are very down to Earth and prefer to keep things that way. That doesn't stop them from trying out new ideas or projects however. The 64 can be like a gateway to a new mode of thinking, especially if it takes the scientist route and may challenge what was previously believed. It will stick by what it finds and what it believes in, and in the extreme will defend itself unless it has been proven beyond a doubt that it is wrong. Sometimes, it will be pinned down by its environment and it must work with tools available to sustain itself. It may be mistrusting of others not to its own liking. If in a relationship, they must take care to not bore their partners and focus on their partners interests instead of solely their own. Oftentimes however, they are so independent that they refuse to take a partner. They must be careful to not cling to the material world or suffer losses and failures.

65/2

This is the emotional self dealing with humanity and the aspects of change and loss. This is one of the better numbers for material success in the world. It can easily grow itself into business and be financially successful. It must be careful that its explosive side does not translate into heated arguments or even violence in their lives, and instead to channel this energy into constructive activities. Typically, the business involved is about serving others to some capacity. It must not get down from any losses or unexpected events that might occur, but to use its network of connections to build anew again.

+2

65

-1

The relationships formed under a 65 require a great deal of freedom in between for it to "do its thing." This is also because it is active and moves around frequently, hence cannot afford to stay tied down to one location. This freedom includes the ability to be alone for certain periods of time, despite needing to be with others simultaneously. 65 needs to develop on its own before it is comfortable with exposing its final product. Because of this, 65 is known to be a secretive number. Oftentimes money seems to be attracted to this number. They must remain practical and reserved when handling money, lest their ego selves take control (-1) and they spend to excess. Maintaining a sustainable relationship is also another thing they must learn to lock down, along with understanding the temptations of novelty. It is one thing to experience, it is another thing when someone gets hurt. Once sexuality, freedom and flexibility (5) along with sensuality, responsibility and morality (6) are perfectly balanced (2), the self can connect with other people peacefully and can become a source of empowerment and enlightenment for both. It should use its natural charisma and spontaneity as tools for growth. Otherwise, if there is no inner balance then conflict with other selves occurs (11) instead of harmony.

66/3

66 is a Master Number, or "Illusion Number" as they are called in Nick's Numerology. The name for these multiples of 11 is a bit misleading: they don't necessarily imply immediate mastery over their environment, in fact the reverse more often occurs. Here, responsibility, morality and ethics meets itself. It is responsibility and service through group effort. Creativity is emphasized here as one of the principle vehicles for its work, and for learning how to work with a group and maximize their harmony. Synchronicity with various members may take some time to master, however is well worth the effort as things easily fall into place thereafter. 66 doesn't just work in the business or material realm, but it could also work within the spiritual realm as well within the healing arts. This number empowers those around it with its natural energies of love, serving to recharge their inner selves.

+3

66

0

Since the energy of a Master Number can often overwhelm, it must look within and balance its core self (0) to maintain a stable outer reality. This number will constantly be forced to examine its emotional self while meeting new people and situations. The results of this inner analysis can determine the direction that a group may take. The following group dynamics along with how responsible one must be over a group make up some of the core lessons of this number. Where are the lines drawn, and how are they maintained? A negative 66 is a total control freak, thinking they are responsible for every part of people's lives. It must remember that people are also individuals like themselves and that they need their own space. With harmony and inner coherence, they can often rise to powerful positions of management and authority over people, structures and systems.

67/4

The loving energies of the 6 meets the mysterious and introverted 7 for the first time, being in some ways a preview of the 70's decade. The constant interior focus of examining its emotions reaches a critical point, where the self begins to discover aspects of itself it did not know it had. The emotional self dives into the spiritual self, and upon opening itself up seeks to master its inner energies. Creativity evolves into strategy, and both are utilized to solve problems and work through situations. It likes to work alone. However, it doesn't mind working with others on complex projects. It seeks to bring spiritual principles onto the material plane.

+4

67

-1

67 digitally roots first to 13, which is a number also found in the numbers 49 and 58 before it. 13 seeks a link between the spiritual and material, which transforms the realities of both. In the case of 67, a link between the emotional realm and spiritual reality is sought. Once this link is established, reality transforms through work and effort, bringing these principles into fruition. It likes to work with its mind, and often becomes proficient in mathematics, the sciences or other similar disciplines requiring an understanding of complexity. The balance of the mind and heart is strongly implied here. The mind must never try to master the heart, but instead listen to its quiet voice. Negatively, the paradigm of "6's and 7's" becomes more prominent and this becomes an irritant for others. Insanity could result if the mind and emotions are not properly handled. Exercises that regularly clear the mind such as meditation are highly beneficial for this number, as it can become quite hectic at times. It must trust itself and move forward with its plans, knowing that nothing is done without action.

68/5

68 represents the harvest as a result from choices rooted in responsibility, relationships and morality. This can create unexpected changes and losses, but also a skill in promotion and marketing as this number instinctively understands people and their minds. It is quick, impulsive and works best in the business world. It is interconnected and has many contacts in business as well as in the personal life. It has a tendency to be strong in materialism and likes to buy aesthetically pleasing items for their home, often times the best things money can buy. Rampant materialism can often turn them into snobs, especially if they only see their own "glorious" image.

+5

68

-2

This number is concerned about its social and economic status (8) in relation to others (-2). This can result in the acquisition of goods or just the opposite, complete loss of status and descent into poverty. To meet this balancing (-2) challenge, the proper ways to give and receive in relation to their actual assets must be learned. 68 must be realistic in its expectations and not obtain items or relationships it cannot afford. It likes to socialize and connect with others, and they are known to have a great sense of humor. It is generally low key in its activities as it does not want to be scrutinized for behaviors that may or may not be acceptable. Big home projects or expenses fall under this number, such as renovations or buying a boat for the holidays. If materialism is not a focus, then 68 tends to have large families. When balanced, they are hard working and faithful if it feels it'll help suit their cause. In fact, they can become married to their work instead to their loved ones if they do not watch out. Its spontaneity often gets itself out of tricky situations, and also helps to propel it in the business world. It must learn to find a proper outlet for its anger.

69/6

The emotional self meets the selfless compassion that is the 9. This number has a very sharp mind and when focused, is creative in all of its endeavors. It works within a discipline that it strives to master, usually something that concerns others. The work that it does is solid and benefits humanity, however they tend not to be in the spotlight and prefer to remain low key. They must be careful not to get themselves stuck in modicums of idealistic fantasies and remember to keep themselves practical if they wish to succeed. This number must keep itself centered, otherwise it can become overloaded and descend into chaos and confusion.

+6

69

-3

69 is the first compound number with a transitional root of 15 ( $6+9=15=6$ ). Given what has been said of the number 15 earlier, this number can be like a vacuum, sucking in material possessions in order to fill a void, resulting in greed, selfishness and other negative emotions including substance abuse. However, the opposite occurs in the positive, and when the 69 has a healthy image of itself (-3), then it radiates outward, giving to mankind what it feels will help make the world a better place. Toning down one's sense of perfection will help this number to accept itself by weeding out those ideas that are impossible to manifest in practical reality. The difference between caring and overcaring is also emphasized with this number, the former healthy to a point and the latter not healthy. If something needs to be let go, it is better to let it go than to hold on, which leads to more difficulties than they're worth. When it radiates outward, it attracts the luxury that is found within themselves, which in some sense could be seen as a preview to the 70's decade.

4-7 – 70-79

70/7

This is the first number of the 70's decade. The previous experiences in life that uncovered the deep emotional self uncovers an inner world not previously seen, and this inner reality urges one to go within themselves and forsake the outer world to better understand who they are. They like to spend time in solitude to understand this new sense of awareness. There is a great sensitivity with this number which further pushes it into solitude, as the everyday reality of others can become a burden and even an annoyance from an awareness of subtle energies that others cannot sense. It has come to the point of trying to find the truth, the truth of their reality and the truth of themselves.

+7

70

-7

70 is one of the Decad Numbers, where the main focus is on its own inner self and of the everything and nothing of existence. Being the first foray into a decade of numbers, it tries to understand the new energies that it is now working with. As a result, Decad Numbers' greatest strength are also their greatest weakness. It learns as it goes along. This number may want to help others after discovering aspects of a truth that could benefit others. It is mental, spiritual, intuitive and may/may not be religious. It has a tendency to be overly serious. Relaxation in the form of mind clearing exercises can greatly help this number. It can be critical with the details of its analysis, to the point where a minor error can trigger it into a sea of irrational emotion. Self-criticism can help stem this tendency. 70 is skilled with using its mind over matter, but its control is rigid rather than flexible and whole. Power abuse is another danger to 70, who may see others as incompetent and may try to take advantage. This can only lead to situations that will lead them back into themselves in the end. The world is not so black and white. One of the common drives of the 70 is its vision for a utopian society, and it is this vision that can drive it to social circles. It is best to remember that its vision of perfection is not the only one, and that all other visions are allowed their own path. "Let go and let God" vibrates with this number.

71/8

The spiritual self meets the number of independence, originality and ideas. In the positive, 71 is a independent number with a great sense of inner security. It is expanding itself into spiritual insights that can be used on the material realm. There is a need to balance the tendency for aloneness and for working within the world. Aloneness allows this number to tap into the higher consciousness, which then can be used to bring to physical reality. This number can be forceful in its work. It wants to see constructive accomplishments and is not afraid to work hard to see them done. This is indeed one of the workaholic numbers.

+8

71

-6

71 is a hard worker and can work so much that it can forget to take time off for vacations. It needs to balance its sense of dedication, honor and commitment (-6) to healthy levels. Security is a priority, whether that be internally or externally. It needs to learn to open its emotional self at the proper moments. Not doing so leads to selfishness and narrow understanding. This number is frugal and does not like to live extravagantly, despite any fortunes it might accrue. When insecure, it wants information that is absolutely solid with no chance of it being ridiculed. There is a strong fear of being fooled from believing in falsified evidence, and many irrational actions can stem from this, including denial. It must make a meaningful spiritual connection to its own inner self in order to feel secure. Analysis and research from the prior number 70 helps in this experience. The spiritual connection to one's self dictates the health of one's exterior reality. If this number does not connect with itself, it can be harsh and demanding to others. It can become insensitive to emotion and be like a steamroller, plowing its way to material success at the expense of the emotions of others.

72/9

The spiritual self meets the energies of gestation, cooperation and interrelation. This can be a hectic number. One moves internally focused on itself and the other moves externally focused on others. Here, aspects of reality may be discovered to be illusions, leading to conclusions and ending along with knowledge and wisdom (9). Actions done without the consideration of others are reprimanded under this number, if not with law disputes then with the force of karma. Since the 7 is focused on its own inner reality, it often does not see the needs of others, hence the conflicts. The whole point is for the spiritual self to become aware of the spiritual needs of others.

+9

72

-5

To understand their needs, one may have to sacrifice (9) their own time and attention for them. Such occurrences may happen seemingly randomly, but the important trait to control is rigidity (-5) toward them. Being flexible for others is a lesson for this number, and this is often dictated by the spiritual values of both. What was found within may be treasured and coveted and there may be a refusal to let go, leading to further rigidity. If the values are held on beyond their "expiration date," or in other words beyond their usefulness, then inauspicious events occur in the daily life to uproot them. This can cause much frustration. It is better to work with others in order to see possible insights for the reasons why wealth is clung onto. Negatively, this clinginess leads to laziness and none of their projects get done. They refuse to listen to any suggestions and stick by what they have and what they know; they do not change for the better. It must also be careful that it means what it says, as their speech may contradict their actions, aka hypocrisy.

73/1

The mystical self focuses on expression and creativity, giving it a new sense of individuation and independence (1). This number is highly adept at writing and uses it to express its concepts to others. It lives between the extremes of mundane reality and spiritual reality. Oftentimes the enticement of material reality can lead it down a path of temptations, which in the end would only lead to ruin and poverty. The key to avoiding this negative path is wisdom and seeking the light within one's self. It is best to work for the deed itself rather than just for selfish accomplishment. A constant focus on materiality is not healthy for this number: it must look within itself to find the right path to take.

+1

73

-4

This number prefers to work alone as it has their own vision and directive of what it wishes to accomplish and convey. It may follow its own pondering or may follow the teachings of others, from which it serves as a channel to spread such information to the masses. It is great at interpreting and translating foreign concepts into practical expression. 73 is one of the compound numbers that can help make the world a better place, but only if it follows its own inner leanings. Full dependence upon an exterior source can lead to unemployment, poverty and instability (-4). It must use its inner philosophy to weave its way through material reality all the while avoiding the pitfalls of egocentricity. They can obtain leadership in their fields with their inner faith and productive work ethics. Relationships can be problematic for this number, as it either does not like to rely on others or they become overly dependent to the detriment of their own selves.

74/2

The mystical self meets the practical. The spiritual meets the mundane. Analysis meets structure. Both 7 and 4 are heavily focused on detailed work, albeit for different reasons. When the analyst meets practical reality, their ideas become tested with the laws of nature. This can create difficulties, particularly with finances. However, such seeming limitations are there to test the spiritual self in its inspiration and its ability to pierce through illusions and false realities in order to arrive at the truth of matters. Because of the amount of material to work with, this can seem to be a slow, plodding number when in reality much data is being processed quickly.

+2

74

-3

Because of being swamped inside so many structural details, its skills will be tested on the social front (-3). It must be careful to not work too much and learn how to relax. Balance is a key word for this number on multiple fronts, including talents, emotions, responsibilities and relationships. Karma is also strong here. It is important to first give in order to receive. Otherwise, too much self focus will have one receive the same in return and disorders can develop. Dishonesty and "cheating the system" will result in losses and inauspicious life circumstances. It is spontaneous and quick to act and is not afraid to make peace when necessary. 74 has a skill to salvage what it can from difficult or lost situations and make the best out of what is left.

75/3

The stable introspective 7 meets the restless and ever-changing 5. This is a number that does not have simple solutions, but must make a plan and stick to it to see the results. They are analytical and like to communicate their findings to others. The environment where it lives can be a bit of a challenge at first, but with effort and determination it can find a pleasant place to live. They have a tendency to talk too much, although they are exceptional at the world of ideas. It takes a persistent amount of effort to get what they really want in life.

+3

75

-2

It is philosophical in its nature and likes to express that with others. Holding its own relations in this regard can be a bit of a challenge (-2), albeit more challenging when facing the forces of entropy. However, it has a certain ambition that can see it through: it must learn to channel it toward constructive methods. Through determination you can climb your way to a higher status in life, although unexpected changes are to be expected. It must be careful not to worry so much about money, whether how to best spend it or the lack thereof. Material things do not feed the soul, spiritual truths do. A balance between positivity and negativity can lead to spiritual nourishment. A part of this comes through stimulating conversations with others and exploring concepts not yet touched. Any mental exploration that makes a positive effect on the life should take focus and worked with. This number is almost always abundant with something, even if it does not seem to be obvious to itself. It is this abundance that should be used to great effect.

76/4

Mind and emotions, the analytic and the family man. This can be a complex energy to deal with. It is fond of learning, although it doesn't always understand everything it comes across. At its core, it seeks to make its spiritual principles manifest into the practical. It may have a hard time with this as humanity in general has a harder time dealing with the truth to things. 76 is fond of philosophy and likes to test these principles in the mundane world. It must be careful not to let their beliefs make them become dogmatic in nature. Confrontations are possible unless it learns to respect the wills and opinions of others.

+4

76

-1

This number has managerial abilities and can be excellent at organization. However, it must be careful that it is not manipulated by others. It must stand up for itself (-1) and not cave into cowardice or lack of self confidence. Once it secures itself, it can begin any project that aligns with its spiritual principles and keep focused to create the perfected vision of said principles. To do this, it must first build a bridge between the spiritual and the mundane to carry across these ideas. From there, it can begin to remove the old ways of life and choose for itself new ways of living. It is a quiet worker that plods along with his/her tasks and is not afraid to work hard to get there, but should not overwork and allow time for rest. While 76 is humble, it should be careful that it does not use this ability to cover its cowardice and other fears. It should take advantage of its organizational abilities. When expected gains do not happen, it can become confrontational with others. It must learn to compromise.

77/5

77/5 is a Master Number as they are often called throughout Numerology. However, Master Numbers are often mistaken in understanding, with many thinking that by simply having one in a chart, it destines them for greatness. This couldn't be further from the truth, and the number 77 is perhaps the best Master Number to exemplify this. The voice that tells us the "power" of Master Numbers is a loud and obnoxious call that can only have its origin from the ego. The ego, being a false self does not really exist and it is this aspect that separates the positive 77's from the negative and more importantly, the balanced. This number looks seeks spiritual power that, depending upon the above ego issues may be used to better humankind or be used for its own selfish gain

+5
77
0

It also depends if they choose to follow their core self or just their minds, as the latter will often leave much to be desired. The former will bring an energy onto the physical plane that few can channel. They are highly psychic by nature and these abilities grow as they get older, and further compound when they awaken to their spiritual selves. They may use their skills in one of the healing disciplines, or they could use their deep understanding to help better the world in an area it feels needs help. This number is independent and prefers to work alone, and although it can mingle with people, it is not necessarily "social." 77 is obsessed with a sort of mastery at a specific discipline and not to let itself fall behind by distractions. In times of change and revolution, this number is one of the paramount movers and many look to it for guidance in building the next society. Once awakened, it has a great power of physically manifesting the spiritual. As it masters the depths of spiritual understanding, it must learn to curb its seeming frustration to manifest this in everyday life. With understanding, it may learn to eventually do this.

78/6

The spiritual seeker testing its found power onto the material realm. This number is like testing one's spiritual power and having a higher power respond in like kind, showing the way to full understanding. It leads the 7 to further search within its emotional self (6) to find and remedy any mistakes that may have manifested out of misunderstanding. The accumulated understanding of the 77 is present here as many 78's are very wise beyond their years. They often accumulate stores of knowledge (7) that have an immense worth (8) and this is used to further 78's own research into a field that it did not yet know (6).

+6

78

-1

The 78 likes to work on its own or with a small group of people and is typically private, not interested in controlling others. It is often interested of the concepts of life and death and how both play into each other. It will work to gain a skill in a certain area to master it, and they may become well known for whatever discipline they take up. This number must be careful that it does not become totally self absorbed and closed off from others (-1). Insensitivity may be a problem. The law of cause and effect is in full force with this number, both the spiritual and material aspects of it and this will help expand their inner awareness. They're relationships may alter between that of compassion and mental connection of others. It should use its understanding to study the deep interconnections made between itself and others, as it is here that many of the causes and effects of life are found. 78 has a strong sense of truth and justice and it should use this for the betterment of the whole.

79/7

The seeker of truth tested in power, a spiritualist called to serve the people in a capacity. Having learned the knowledge it sought in 78, the spiritual seeker now learns how to best wield the power that knowledge has brought. This number has a very intense inner life that can cause much tension if not properly harmonized and balanced. It learns to work within the difference between being "with" people or being "of" people. This power can extend to the social, political, spiritual or other areas of life where it feels it has the power to help others see an understanding it has learned. This number, however, is not easy to live with.

+7

79

-2

79 often causes tumultuous troubles and upsets, having a 16 within its calculation ( $7+9=1+6=7$ ). This number thus rules saints or sinners, and the value of their actions are brought upon them in like kind. If their actions are holistic, constructive and balanced then they are rewarded with help from others or from the hidden realities. However, if power is used for toxic and selfish goals, then illness and sickness may develop. Negative energies are best to be avoided as it is very sensitive to its environment (-2). Being diplomatic and compromising with others is a skill that is learned over time, oftentimes the hard way. This number is persistent in understanding every last detail of whatever it decides to study. It must remember that its power should be used for the benefit of the whole, and not just for itself or a small few. You are not afraid to make sacrifices in order to achieve a goal, knowing how transient the material realm is. There is a danger of becoming a martyr for a cause. Ultimately, 79 works to break down old structures to rebuild again based upon spiritual law.

4-8 – 80-89

80/8

80 is the first number of the 80's decade, and thus represents the studious 7 first stepping into the world of accountability, achievement, effort, respect and karma. It seeks to establish a connection of power between itself and other people, places and things. This connection is the result of the spiritual understanding of exchange. It is granted to it a great vision that at first it has a hard time controlling. As a result, an uncontrolled imagination erupts. The need for a great amount of self discipline first presents itself here to keep together or lose itself to whims that can inevitably destroy it once the bills arrive.

+8

80

-8

80 is a Decad Number, being the first number of a decade. As such, venturing into this new energy, its greatest strength is also its greatest weakness. One cannot assume with this number, cannot assume protection over one's self, assume their integrity, assume their luck. The concept of earning is introduced here. It is not enough to merely know something. Such knowledge must be demonstrated to show that such knowledge is understood. This helps them develop into a more noble character as they begin to see the value of such traits. Its determination should help it learn to harness this energy. Reaching for success by ulterior motives will earn them actions of like kind against them. It is good at making sound decisions and has an ability to lead others. It should not enter situations that it cannot control. Over all it must strive to retain its integrity, which is the vital ingredient for its success. If it is lost, then its balance with natural law is also lost. It gains great abundance in life, in which it must discipline itself to its correct and balanced usage.

81/9

The self, seeking to further integrate itself establishes its identity in this new decade of numbers. With a newly built discipline, it tries to keep itself independent and afloat via will power and determination. It conjures a sense of authority on those people around it. This can lead to aggressiveness and even violence if it does not keep its integrity in check. A very large amount of work forces the self to make decisions and to take the lead to see the situation resolved. It can have a sense of humor to offset the stress and seriousness. It has a strong attraction to money and the power that it brings.

+9

81

-7

For this number to remain balanced, it must be spiritually motivated (-7) with its actions and goals. It has a strong power of regeneration that it can use to help others. Conflict easily arises with this number, however it is the decisions that it makes that will determine the outcome and whether it'll grow from it or not. While it has the courage and the organization, it doesn't have the structure that it needs to "keep dry." This structure can be built with the help of relatives and loved ones, as relationships are one of its fortes. With a framework, it can move forward and its rebirths wont be as painful as they once were. It must be careful not to become discriminatory against anything but to remain marketable and attractive instead. Its anxiety is under control and its imagination is disciplined to the point of being fruitful and productive. It can be impulsive and should look before it leaps into a new situation. Ends occur from new ideas: it should learn to let go of the old and make way for the new.

82/1

The integrated self working with detail, which creates a new beginning or a sense of self reliance. It starts to relate to others after overcoming a period of establishing itself as an integrated, accountable being. These relations create realities that may or may not be what things actually are, and these are tested time and again, like bubbles floating and bursting. The key is staying true to one's self. It is only the end of the world if you believe it is. The balanced 82 knows ascension happens step by step in a gradual process. It is a discreet leadership that is not bombastic or showy, but shows its worth through its efficient actions.

+1

82

-6

This is one of the best business numbers as the drive for self initiative is in endless supply here, along with the capabilities of working with and managing others. Its attention to detail is sure to make them succeed in life and bring them far from where they started. Greed must be kept in check however, otherwise it can easily dictate its policies, and the sense of always having to get more than they actually need (-6). The problematic areas of life tend to stem from the personal levels where relationships may be challenging for them. In particular, balancing the need to have business engagements with that of heartfelt emotional connections with a loved one is the issue. If the latter is neglected, then either his number goes through a string of relationships or simply has none at all. This number often receives a form of inheritance, whether through the death of loved ones or through their business associations. Life can be difficult if the illusions of the reality of their relationships are not perceived, and they later burst leaving them with nothing.

83/2

This number is good at hammering out agreements between individuals, corporations or nations. It seeks to establish a common understanding between two parties. Its goal is to unify spiritual power into a cohesive unit and to help sustain it. This unified power is materialized in agreements, contracts, leases and interpretation. This number is also found in law, where disputes are settled in court between plaintiffs and defendants in the presence of a judge. There can be much tension (11) as an agreement or ruling is decided upon, with a common ground being sought after.

+2

83

-5

83 often finds itself making connections and exchanging information often between parties. This number is involved in covert infiltration in hostile environments where agreements cannot be reached. In these settings, the 83 can become quite clever and cunning. This number works well as an interpreter, making clear the language used between multiple individuals in order create an understanding for all. It is a very good communicator and is savvy with words. It intends to make clear what others may have a hard time understanding. Honesty is very important here and it builds its reputation with it; any form of dishonesty will lead to disastrous results. There is a danger of using this understanding as a form of selfish gain: to lure others into an agreement for its own benefit. The problem is within, succumbing to egotistical desires and sensual lusts (-5). This can only lead to destructive change. It is best that the illusion of ego be conquered beforehand.

84/3

The 84 is a visionary and covers a lot of ground during its life. It is not always practical when it comes to doing what it wants to do however, but this does not stop it from understanding how to get there. Growth and development is slow under this number, having to cover large territory and many details but eventually it reaches its destination. This number can be found in management, where it does well with enforcing the workflow. Growing up may have been difficult, as it learned to work with the limitations that it had/has.

+3

84

-4

84 must learn to balance working with others and for itself in a structured, material environment. These relations occur within the contexts of rules, structure, limitation and discipline. Strength and effort will be needed to see the way through, and on occasion it may have to do the job itself. The challenges that it will face include a number of fears and apprehensions that may pull it back or make it hesitate from taking action (-4). It may not receive the compensation that it deserves. Others can depend on this number to show up and do the work it needs to do, regardless of most circumstances. It is very organized and likes to plan out the aspects of not only its work but in other areas of its life. It must remember to not overwork and to enjoy what life has to offer. It has an authority that will bring with it many associates, friends and relationships.

85/4

This is a tough, hardworking number. It's stubbornness allows it to stick to a project until it is completed. It is fast paced and many things in their lives may come unexpectedly. It is physical and prefers environments where it can be. It may be athletic or obsessed with keeping their body in good shape. Pacing is important for this number as it does not like going too slow, but going too fast can cause problems. It can alternate between being too quiet and being overly sociable. It is important for this number to relax, to enjoy what life has to offer and appreciate what it has. This number sticks by its values no matter what roller-coaster it finds itself in, and it knows how to organize itself and create a foundation to make sure its values last over the long haul. It can be authoritarian and assume control depending on the situation.

+4

85

-3

Integration and effort meets the headwinds of change and the experience life has to offer. This number demands a steady head and a disciplined approach to life. Otherwise it becomes lost in chaos. The 85 may have a hard time socializing due to the values it holds on for itself. Sometimes, it is best to not take everything so seriously. It's authoritarianism may step on other people's toes if it is not careful. This number must keep itself oriented to a philosophy it can adhere to, which will further cement its foundations in life and develop its character. Positively, it is optimistic and faces life experiences as growth catalyst, all of which become organized once the connections are made. There is a strong need for freedom to create one's own stable foundation and these experiences help lead one to that goal. It is flexible in its work. It must watch out from indulging in laziness and procrastination, and excusing oneself for another experience to avoid work needing to be done.

86/5

The focuses of this number include a combination of service, responsibility, affection and philosophy. Past efforts made by others are shown for what they are, and uplifting to higher levels of understanding occur under this number. It is important for this number to never lose sight of itself, or it develops contradictions and hypocrisies that may lead to breakdowns. It is organized, but also unconventional and does not like to be confined into a space or routine for long. It is very affectionate but can have a hard time communicating this affection to others. Much of its potential is latent and it'll take inner awakening to reach a higher level of understanding in order to use the abilities apparent. This number is a free spirit that does not like being told what to do. It would rather take the authority and be the one in command instead.

+5

86

-2

The -2 indicate challenges and fears relating to others. This number needs people but can also fear them. There is a good amount of creativity that, once it gains expression, can attract those of like mind. There is a strong temptation to simply live life as it is (6), which will make one miss opportunities for growth (5). Living in a land of make believe is the easy way out, until the problem is forced onto one's doorstep. Ignoring reality can lead to hypocritical behaviors. This can lead to a volcano effect where the suppressed truth is forced out into the open. Self control is a must to be productive.  $8 + 6 = 14$ , the number of addictions and self indulgence which also must be kept in mind. As long as this number never loses sight of themselves, then they are free to live in harmony with the rest of the world.

87/6

This is a number that seeks to love another, but has difficulty in doing so. It is determining the spiritual worth of a materialistic ambition, then adjusting the self for the difference. It tends toward being materialistic, but also loves to travel and has a sense of detachment to things that it has a hard time shaking off. In other words, it wants real commitment but instead withdraws into itself and/or becomes interested in too many things. 87 has a very real sense of what it feels to be its real worth and it will not let go of it readily. Learning what is really of worth, materially or spiritually, is always at the forefront of this number. It is motivated to obtain life skills and high paying positions in life toward this end. It swings between outgoing materialism and private spiritualism and it must learn to strike a balance, otherwise it can be overcome by chaos and give up on one of these areas.

+6

87

-1

Unexpected difficulties can prop up with this number. This can lead to egotistical outbursts and challenges to the self (-1). The key is to not be so focused on the self as to exclude all others. When other people are placed back into its focus, then it becomes warm and compassionate. Wealth is a central theme, and often this number tends to have a comfortable life. It must be careful to not marry out of material convenience, otherwise it may find its authentic desires for love to be trapped, which may lead to later problems. It is always seeking to evolve itself to the next best thing and to increase its worth in time. It may have the desire to assume authority and bring into material being the spirituality it finds within itself. It must balance responsibility with this authority.

88/7

88/7 is a Master Number as they are known throughout much of Numerology. Don't let the name fool you: one does not become a self proclaimed master from simply having one of these numbers in one's chart. These numbers have greater lessons and responsibilities than other numbers and the 88/7 is no exception. This is a number concerning the wholeness of all that is. All of the intricacies of a system, a plan, of an understanding are thoroughly analyzed within and then carried into physical reality. This inner reality, consisting of spiritual truths and understandings is used as an authoritative force upon physical reality to align it more toward this spirituality. This process can bring along much purification ( $8 + 8 = 16/7$ ) and readjustment of other selves in reality. Its inner reality and capabilities of understanding the totality of the parts inside a whole afford great visions of this number on the material plane.

+7
+16
88
0

A challenge of 0 deals with the allness of all that is and is interchangeable with the number 9. This means universal brotherhood, forgiveness, compassion for one's fellow man and the pivot between selfishness and selflessness are the major challenges for this number. Negatively, dogmatism and fanaticism may erupt to serve as selfish fulfillment at the cost of other's well being. The 16/7 transition root becomes a great force of evil and seeks to "purify" forces of good into a reality of absolute control and fear. The opposite is true when 88 chooses to take the challenge of selflessness and it becomes a great force of good, helping to realign disharmonious realities back into alignment with the natural laws of the universe.

In other words, the choice the 88 makes will greatly influence its spiritual evolution of itself and for others. If it chooses positivity (spirituality), then it becomes a learner and teacher of spiritual principles, the interconnections of natural laws and practices these to others to illuminate them of the reality of the universe. At the same time, it works to create a harmonious and functioning material manifestation more in alignment with the natural law of the universe. On the other hand, if it chooses negativity (materiality) and the physical reality outside of the self, then absolute control of all there is within the whole material reality becomes the leading paradigm of its existence. This is chiefly done through fear, manipulation and intimidation of others based upon the understanding of the faults of the human race. The soul predominant with the 88 in one's chart will determine the spiritual polarity that will be followed. This is chiefly a spiritual decision.

89/8

This number is about the best use of wisdom in the material realm. Vision of spiritual ideals often fill its sights, but applying these to the physical realm is one of its greatest challenges. Its failures cause it to seek a deeper connection within itself (17/8) in order to find a more viable solution from its source. Likewise, its successes serve to create connections to a higher source of understanding. This influence can be frustrating, as many ideals that one may wish to express may not be able to make a connection in physical reality. A fundamental understanding of physical reality is needed here for these ideals to manifest. It likes to travel extensively and may find it difficult to be alone for a long period of time.

+8

89

-1

It is faced with challenges regarding its independence, self confidence, individuality and self esteem (-1). With the all encompassing energies of universal brotherhood in this number this is hardly surprising. It can often think beyond the self to serve the greater whole of man and the world man dwells on, to the detriment of itself. The lesson is, while bridging the spiritual with the material, you must be true to yourself. This is much power and authority with this number and it can be inherently used for the good of man. It is important to not let one's visions of what reality should be to act as a steamroller to all other possibilities and to always keep your cup "empty." At best this number is a humanitarian on the physical realm and uses its mundane acumen to make a difference in the world. Negatively, this number can use its spiritual insight for selfish purposes and swindle others to a large degree, many not even knowing something happened to them. However, the law of karma quickly comes into play if this is done. Good karma is given when 89 becomes service to others.

4-9 - 90-99

90/9

In many ways, 90/9 indicates a sense of completion of the cycles before it. This completion contains a little bit of everything, which serves to become the seed for the next cycle of understanding. It is like the gathering of the past into a seed, the container of all possibilities which serves to become the source for the future. It can be all things to all people. It is concerned with universal love and/or wisdom and how to best express this in daily life, whether through physical actions, religious furor, oratorical facilities or other means. It can be self sacrificing in the name of universal love. 90 brings about revelations and unveiling of secrets long kept under wraps in order to draw conclusions. With this number, the true meaning of humility is brought about, and it knows the difference between this and humiliation.

+9
90
-9

90 is a Decad number, which means its greatest strength is also its greatest weakness. This is akin to the Fool in the Tarot first stepping out into the unknown. Having mastered the 80's decade, the 90 has found a connection with a higher source and understanding to life. It wishes to express this to understand it further on its own path of evolution. The 90 is naturally giving, understanding the selflessness that really powers this universe, however it seeks to understand the proper use of these energies. As a result it will face both breakthroughs and challenges all at once related to this energy. It tends to be distant on a personal level with others, preferring to remain aloof in order to remain close to the source. This can cause problems with other selves (-9) that it may interact with. It should be noted that 90 is the only compound number outside of the master numbers to have a -9 challenge as it deals with the energies of selflessness directly, unlike the tensions associated with the master numbers. The understanding of being one with the spiritual source makes this number strong in the face of challenges and will serve to protect those it loves.

91/1

91 represents the seed planted into the ground for a new cycle. It is the understanding of the great force of vitality and creation from the womb of the all, and observing and balancing the manifested results. It is extremely creative and showcases this creativity through many forms of art. It can be rather eccentric with its focuses, but it means well. It understands the forces of cause and effect very well and has a strong sense of not just ordinary justice, but universal justice. It has very sharp senses and can see things that others cannot. It tries to strike a balance between the interests of others and that of itself. If it is too selfish, it may suffer from guilt and depression until alleviated through giving.

+1

91

-8

This number is its own authority and may have issues with the authority of others (-8). It must remember that all life is on its own level and respect is dulled out in proportion to this. It also indicates the balance of polarity: between selflessness and selfishness, specifically the most harmonious use of selfless understanding to be used by the self for the greater whole. It is greatly concerned for universal justice for all and must remember to not exclude anyone or anything due one's own personal stigmas. Despite its intentions, it can have a hard time dealing with money. This is because materialism for its own sake is not the main focus of this number, despite the monetary society it lives in. With its own knowledge of universal understanding, it strikes out on its own and gauges its successes from the positive or negative feedback from the universe.

92/2

This is a number that is illuminated and becomes aware of information that most other people will never see. It is very ahead of the times and is always curious about what will happen in the future. It can be very gentle, sweet and diplomatic with others and can be relied on to diffuse even the most tense situations. It contains a universal understanding of cooperation and cohesion between others and can act as a universal glue in many instances. It is universal love being shared with others on a more intimate scale and is more subtle in its operation. It tries to bring about the cooperation between spirit and matter. It has a great capacity to achieve a high level of awareness of the subtle realities of existence.

+2

92

-7

Its higher awareness is offset by its more limited ability to implement this awareness in mundane reality. This can cause internalization of this awareness which can lead to many internal disorders (-7). It must find a way to seek a connection between what it is aware of and a way to express this into the mundane. An outlet is vital for this number. This number can very much be like the power behind the throne, for while it may not like to show itself on center stage, it certainly likes to inform and uplift those that do make a difference. Karma and universal justice is very strong with this number, and it must remember to work within natural law or face the consequences. One of its ultimate goals is to blend universal love with personal affection. This can create tensions (11/2) amongst those not ready to receive such energy and understanding, so diplomacy and tact must always be employed to avoid conflicts. This is a very uplifting number that can serve to awaken the human race to greater understandings.

93/3

The 93 represents the universal creative force put into motion for manifestation. It has a lot of interests and contacts all at once and keeping itself organized, let alone together can be a challenge. It must learn to hone its focus toward constructive efforts. Maintaining the stability of the orbits of its interests is another understanding that comes with time. It is often filled with ideas, its imagination inflated yet can struggle to find an outlet for these ideas. Because of the seeming lack of stability, this number can bring insecurity and much of its potential may be lost, instead wasted on imaginary whims and internal fears. Its dreams become so big that unless there is an equal amount of discipline to materialize them the resulting satisfaction will not be as fulfilling. The dreams it has drive much of its existence, and many of them can become prophetic and fulfilling. When it tries to commit to manifesting said dreams, it is often met with difficulties.

+3

93

-6

Amid all the seeming possibilities that are seen, the few that are actually worked with require a steady effort to materialize the possibility originally seen. These should be chosen from the heart rather than from an emotional whim (-6), so spiritual philosophies regarding the inner self may be of some help here. Regardless of what is accomplished, it is responsible for the outcome of their projects, whether finished or never begun. Its magnetic qualities should be used positively and its dreams should reflect this as it has a great influence over manifestation. There is always a choice to serve the self or for others here, and sometimes it must make a sacrifice to see others happy and content. Its failures may drive this number to a simple domestic life surrounded by comfort, seeking to avoid its higher potential with distractions. Music is a good avenue for this number, whether simply listening or making their own.

94/4

The evolution, completion or regeneration of structures, laws, patterns and paradigms. In the positive sense this number is revolutionary, as it analyzes structure and works to bring about changes that evolve or terminate the structure in order to realign to universal principles. It is creative at its base, and it seeks to learn how to best communicate the vision that it sees into physical reality. The two key words that unlock this number's potential are "universal harmony" because if it is to be constructive, it must first understand the principles of universal harmony to keep itself grounded. Otherwise, its life is often ruled by chaos, disorganization and confusion. "A tree is only as strong as its roots" applies to this number. Though it has a tendency to always see the imperfections in everything, it has the ability to keep going despite the losses.

+4

94

-5

This number lives in seemingly two contradictory worlds: one made of dreams, ideals and visions and the other being material reality and all the details that can be extracted from it. When working in an unnatural state, change and loss follow this number wherever it goes (-5). Disharmony brings aggravation of limits and becoming swept up in the winds of change. This number needs a strong inner discipline if it is to live positively. Above all else, it must remain true to itself and not sacrifice its vision just to see a part of it done in the physical world. This will only result in frustrations. There is a tendency to constantly scrutinize one's own work, especially after completion of a project. It may even destroy any progress made for not being perfect enough, having to start over. This tendency to self sabotage one's work must be kept in check. Otherwise, there is a severe lack of productivity and the 94 becomes stuck in dreams believing they could never be made in reality. Its understanding of living in harmony with the universe will help bring their plans to fruition. Even if the physical plane itself is too limiting for the extravagant visions seen, their efforts will still make an impact and be used by others in proportion to the standard of civilization and natural law.

95/5

This number experiences what the world has to offer. Its convictions are tied to its ideas of universal knowledge of the universe. One of its key lessons is to find courage within itself. It has many interests that deal with the universal consciousness in one way or another and desires to experience its expressions. It needs to focus on completing one project before moving on. It must truly master something or it'll be followed by a wide array of shallow interests and unfinished goals. It promotes its abilities and what it knows readily. It is most interested in universal knowledge it can share amongst others. There is a degree of restlessness that may prevent further study of some interests, but if it can go deeper in understanding then its mastery will become inherent and people will take more interest.

+5

95

-4

Because of its curiosity, it must organize and discipline itself in order to meet all of its experiences with a level head (-4). Courage is needed to face scary realities and truths it may come across. Otherwise, internal paralysis results. It is important for this number to remember that its dream is what it is: a dream, and it is not what reality really is. It is excellent in dealing with people as it understands them on a fundamental level. It can have many talents, but will master fewer. This number is concerned with freedom for all things, not just for itself and will demand freedom in every part of its life. It can be pleasure loving, spontaneous and have a natively strong vitality. It must learn to organize all of its experiences together to be able to effectively share them with others. There is a tendency to stay with the herd for support; the fear of loss can be great and better to have others with you than be alone. However, this number shines on its own convictions. When it finds the courage to take life on its own, it can deal with any situation that comes its way.

96/6

This is an influence that is guided by its emotions and thoughts. It must learn to get a grip on these thoughts vis a vis the reality it lives in. It is very community oriented and is willing to help their fellow men. It can often be gullible and believe what is told to them without question. It is highly sensitive to the invisible, subtle worlds of reality and most of mankind is still awakening to this reality. Hence, it may seem their efforts are wasted. Its biggest hurdle is this lack of understanding from others. It must control its reactions, and serve to explain what they feel in a sense that the other can understand. It is very passionate and loving, and if not so with other people then definitely within their fields of study. They can "marry" their work in this way and become brilliant. It likes to talk about what it loves often (or hates if its negative) but must be careful to not say more than it actually knows. In its thirsting for love, it must be careful not to go too far (15/6) in its explorations and exploitations of others, including being too nosy. Personal boundaries are a must.

+6

96

-3

Difficulties with self expression is emphasized here (-3) along with the need to keep one's ego in check. This is because the love that it has is the most loving out of all +6's and it can be difficult to express on mundane levels. Its environment will be very important as it can influence its behavior, but then again its very presence can influence others and enlighten the consciousness of those around it. This is a great responsibility that is like an invisible burden. The key is to find an outlet for its love, whether in love of a significant other, a hobby or a career that it can pour its love into. When life cannot answer its questions, it often goes to esoteric or metaphysical groups to find something it can identify with. It must learn not to oppose what it needs the most out of fear from being hurt. Insanity is a danger for this number, and it must always keep an eye on its inner core and maintain its stability as all else derives from it. Its emotional vulnerability is constructive in key moments and disadvantageous in others. In other words, the proper use of being vulnerable is another key to its growth.

97/7

This number is concerned with the use of spiritual power. It experiences understandings of nature and seeks to use this to further its goals. There is a major danger of using its ego rather than its inner self and this should be avoided at all costs. In other words, it must not play music it does not understand. It must first understand the fundamentals of the music before it can be played harmoniously. Otherwise the laws of karma will make their inner lives miserable and disharmonious in turn. It is greatly sensitive to others and when positive, uses the inner power it acquires to help others. It analyzes and reflects on the power structures of the world and the real tangible benefits they can bring. If their inner powers are used ignobly to the detriment of others, it shall suffer the same fate within. If it seeks to draw a cascade of illusion around another number, than a greater illusion will be drawn around them. There will be great spiritual tests in its use of power within the world.

+7

97

-2

The use of power brings the danger of becoming insensitive to the wills of others (-2). 97 can become self obsessed with its goals to the point of becoming ignorant of the true opinions of others. In a negative sense it can see others as weak for not using their own powers to save themselves. Positively however, it is more aware of the forces of karma and understands the different levels of awareness that all go through. The problem is the awareness of its intent vis a vis the universal consciousness of the world. Its personal consciousness must be correctly aligned with that of the universal consciousness. It must not fall into the trap of using universal knowledge for its own selfish benefit or brutal personal adjustments (16/7) may result. Essentially, what it comes down to is the alignment of the soul in terms of the use of the spiritual power it inherits. If used negatively, it can become a terrible force in the world to be reckoned with, seeking to prevent knowledge of the inner self and the fundamental laws of nature from being revealed, keeping those in utter darkness while obtaining absolute control over all life. On the other hand, if used positively, it can become a great force of good in the world, seeking to enlighten and empower those to become sovereign entities, answerable only to the creation itself and to no other physical being. In either case, it seeks perfection of this power at any cost.

98/8

This number deals with the spiritual brotherhood of man. It understands that silence is the best communicator of the universe and that words can never fully explain its deep mysteries, but nevertheless it affords unconventional ways of communicating to get its point across. An example is its mimetic expressions that it often employs when it communicates. It is a lover of drama and loves to express this in its day to day affairs. It is the balancing and sharing of natural law with the rest of mankind, and this serves to create deeper connections (17/8) not just within themselves but with the rest of the creation. It creates a vast vision of the inner workings of the universe that only expands over time as its awareness grows. Aware of the more subtle realms of existence, it seeks to communicate its knowledge of awareness to others in various forms. Because of this awareness, it may have difficulty speaking words in childhood. For many people, this number will be difficult to understand.

+8

98

-1

The vision afforded to this number may make it seem like their own individuality is indifferent to the cosmic whole (-1), and in this mode they become service to others. On the other hand, a selfish soul may pull the opposite and try to use this vision for their own fulfillment, trying to always be the center of attention to influence the thinking of others for its own benefit. Through its never-ending connections to the source, what it must realize is that all is one. The realities previously seen as such become understood as mere illusions to the positively aligned soul, and the illusion becomes the reality to the negative soul. Once it sees the connections between the creation and other people and understands its intermingling, then the illusion of separation is seen for what it is. This allows a near infinite balancing and sharing effect of energy to flow almost unimpeded. Because of the difficulty of expressing these felt concepts into words, it prefers to use thought transference, or telepathy to share its insights. It knows that others will receive them, and the real issue is others understanding them. It wants others to learn and follow the pathway to their own connections to the creation by themselves, preferring to showing them the door instead of being blunt unless absolutely necessary.

99/9

This is the last of the compound Master Numbers. It is very misunderstood by others. It is learning to work with the impersonal love of the universe with its own impersonal love of the masses. Its battles are not so much visible with the human eye as are so much played out on the spiritual arena. It seeks to connect to the world with its ideas (18/9) in order to uplift (or control) humanity. It best expresses itself through the artistic mediums, despite the impulse to not personally prostrate itself into the limelight. Often, it wants to show its power to the world without personally being seen as most prefer to work behind the scenes. Congregating all ideas toward it, it wrings them through its presser of understanding and filters out what it desires to share with the masses. Its understanding is so great that they are often seen to be wielding a type of "magic" over others.

+9

99

-9

One of 99's key lessons is to let go of all earthly, material attachments so that its love for the all can shine through (-9). Personal relationships and interpersonal love can make this number clingy and possessive from the fear of loss. However, it must not forget that all life is transient and only the oneness remains. The 18/9 aspect of this number is tied in with its possessiveness, or its willing detachment from material life. This detachment can make it very courageous. It confers an artistic genius performing on the grand stage of life, and it can find itself traveling to many areas of the globe, often unexpectedly. It often expresses itself through music as it is the universal language amongst mankind, but it'll seek and use any language that all can understand. It is a natural healer and may often counsel others with their issues. They sacrifice much of their own selfish interests for those of the masses. However, the reverse is true if their soul is negative and instead seeks to control all life as it knows it. The love behind this number must not be underestimated.

Chapter 5 – Number Compatibility

5-1 – Understanding Number Compatibility

One of the more intricate areas of Numerology are the degrees of compatibility between the nine base numbers. Many have sought to underline this understanding from their own experiences, though this has widely led to differing results due to subjective perspectives. It makes sense after all, as people are each their own individual and understanding cannot be precisely the same between all. Compatibility between numbers requires one to keep in mind the 7 core numbers of each individual, along with not only the digitally rooted digits, but their compound number counterparts as well. This creates a need for advanced understanding in order to fully grasp the totality of the bigger picture.

The understanding begins with the nine single digit numbers: their strengths and weakness and how their qualities can create both such states. However, it also involves understanding how the two numbers interact with each other, under what circumstances each may be constructive for the other, and of course what can make their relations between them fall apart if they are not wary. Each number interacts differently with one another, and it is up to the holders of the numbers to not only deduce, but to choose whether a constructive or destructive relationship is to develop. Theoretically, any number combination can be wholly positive or wholly negative. What depends upon the eventual outcome largely depends upon the inner worlds of the holders of said numbers, along with society and the culture that the holders have been brought up with.

For example, the west is considered to be a materialistic culture. This puts a damper on the understanding of more spiritual numbers such as 7 or 9. If the culture were more spiritually minded, then the pendulum would swing the other way, and numbers like 4 and 8 could be seen as negative instead. Likewise, one's chart makeup would also push an individual into a certain mindset depending upon its makeup. The important thing is to study the trees, but never to lose the sight of the whole forest simultaneously.

The single digit numbers are not the only factors of compatibility. They are merely the simplest factor. Just as it was explained in Chapter 1, reducing compound numbers to their single digits greatly reduces the accuracy of one's chart, and it is the same with compatibility between numbers. The compound numbers themselves are analyzed between each other, which effectively doubles not only the accuracy but the complexity as well. However, this can easily be learned once the qualities of the nine single digits are taken to heart. This is a new perspective on number interactions that will be thoroughly explained in the following section.

Before this is done however, it is important to understand that number compatibility is not simply a black and white affair: that is, one does not simply get along with the other and another two simply cannot cooperate. Compatibility covers the full spectrum of understanding the other. It is certainly possible to have a black and white attraction, but this always occurs because of the inner worlds inside each individual as mentioned above. What we choose to believe and choose to see determines who we become, and these qualities reflects outwards in compatibility analysis and makes up the grand polar spectrum of relationships. Much of that spectrum on Earth is neither fully black and white, but is mostly gray, flopping about between each extreme. The important thing is to focus on the positives and not always the negatives, lest the negatives become the central focus.

5-2 – Determining Compatibility

To determine compatibility between single digits, simply take the two numbers together then add and subtract them. The process is very similar to forming and understanding the compound numbers. The negative root is the challenge and will be seen as the negative obstacle of the relationship, while the positive sum is the resulting energy that becomes the central focus between the individuals.

For example, let us take a number combination not commonly found to illustrate this point. Below is the anatomy of the numbers 5 and 2:

+7
52
-3

Now, as was discussed in Chapter 5-1, the culture can largely shape how number compatibility will play out between individuals. Since the sum of 5 and 2 is 7, a spiritual number with a focus inwards, this combination would be automatically avoided inside a materialistic culture that focuses outwards. This is especially true if the combination is a 5 and a 11, which totals 16, the spiritual purifier of the self. Depending upon the needs, lessons and desires of both individuals, along with the inner understanding of both, this combination can fall into many areas of the spectrum. But regardless, it would create a spiritual quality and such a partnership would cater to such endeavors.

The first area to understand between two numbers is the negative root, or the challenge. If this is not addressed and understood, then the relationship will remain stuck at this level. It shows the kind of negative relationship that would be experienced if this level is not understood and overcome. The challenge most readily apparent with 5 and 2 is communication, whether this is blocked entirely by some invisible barrier or a shouting match erupts between the two. Proper, balanced communication must first be established before the relationship can become constructive.

Next, the aspiration or the sum of the two numbers are taken into consideration. This will tell how the relationship will play out, or the overall qualities and atmosphere of the relationship. In the case of 5 and 2, the 7 indicates a relationship where things may need to be dug out in order to find the truth, or to see things from different angles. These two will have a deep connection that they may not be willing to explore as much of its understanding lies outside of the material reality that is a part of this world. Because of that, this deepness can be a source of contention especially when one tries to take advantage of the other. It is not easy to do with this combination.

Finally, and this can be the most difficult part, the two digits themselves are compared one to the other. This requires an understanding of the qualities of each digit in order to determine how they would best envelope around each other. The aspiration helps with this regard. In the case of the 5 and 2, 5 is a go getter, a lover of life and a explorer of the sensual world. The two on the other hand seeks a one on one relation with another, to truly understand someone on the deepest levels and works with more subtle energies than the 5 does. This creates a deeply spiritual experience for both if allowed to work in the positive.

Understanding the different dynamics of how two numbers can find harmony with each other takes experience and at first it may seem to be challenging with the more unusual combinations. Ultimately however, we are the ones who need to understand how the creation already gets along with itself.

5-3 – 1-1 to 1-9

1-1

These two are big driving egos on the path of self ambition. What occurs here largely depends upon their own inner constitutions, their own motivations and how each perceives life. Both are originators and highly creative, but both also expect to be the boss of their own lives and do not like being told what to do. Therefore, the amount of possible cooperation with this combination depends upon the willingness to engage with tact and diplomacy ( $1+1=2$ ) in order to reach an agreement. If both share similar goals and ambitions and do not view each other as an impediment to each other's success, then this combination will more than likely be beneficial.

1-2

These two are fundamentally opposites, however both can bring what each of them need. 1 is a driving force that pushes ahead with initiative, driven more than anything to personally succeed. 2 on the other hand is a receptive force dealing with the world of feeling, empathy and harmony in the environment. This is very much a leader/follower or master/servant combination. Communication is key to resolving issues that might prop up. It is good for romance, not so much for business as toes can be stepped on.

1-3

This is a constructive association for the short term. However, building a long term relationship may prove difficult. The 1, being authoritative and initiating will come under the scrutiny of the 3's analysis and need to oversee the fine details of everything. This is fine for short group projects that must be completed on a schedule, but not so much for personal relations. The 1 will become annoyed with three's need to scrutinize and analyze every detail, while the 3 will find one to be too impulsive and too willing to "jump the gun." This can lead to explosive arguments as each can think one is insulting the other. Conservatism in communication is key for this combination to work. This is not to say communication should be limited, but that each must be careful in what one says to the other.

1-4

These two are typically not seen together as far as personal relationships are concerned. This is found more commonly in the business setting. They are very unconventional and will have to think outside the box to keep things working smoothly. It can lead to explosive situations, seemingly striking out of nowhere. The 1 should learn to work on a quieter level as its impulsiveness can make the 4 nervous and unsure whether to continue. At the same time, this is a chance for the 4 to change its routine to something more in harmony with its own nature.

1-5

This can be a very chaotic combination, but if both can temper their egos it can be very constructive. 1's ambition can bring much to the table and so can 5's spice of life and need for freedom. Conflicts can arise at times, but much of these are easily solvable. It is important for both of them to be upfront with each other. Serious ties call for serious talks. The level of harmony within this relationship depends upon the morals of each; the lack of morality will lead to greater chaos in the relationship and vice versa. Both must be firmly rooted and disciplined within themselves to achieve a positive outcome.

1-6

This partnership will have both delve deep into each other's natures. It is full of intelligence which both appreciate. It can showcase a bit of a master/servant relationship in many ways, with teaching and learning in various areas of their lives. 6 always questions 1's ideas and implores them to explain them on more deeper levels rather than relying on abstract frameworks. This allows the 1's ideas to gain "root" and give it a better footing going forward. 1's respect the 6's need to constantly improve things and appreciate those skilled enough to work with them. This is a good combination as long as both are willing to dig a little deeper into the workings of things.

1-7

This can be a good combination as long as both numbers can find a spiritual connection between each other. Both of them excel in areas of business. Once they connect, this can be a great personal relationship. Both have similar ambitions and goals. The 1 can get in touch with 7's emotions, which not every number can do. The 7 is looking for a leader and role model and 1 fits this perfectly. 7 will back up and support 1's endeavors with advice which the 1 appreciates greatly. They have deep and profound discussions about any topic, and both truly respect each other.

1-8

This is a fruitful but very challenging combination, filled with intense emotion. The keys are showing respect where it is due and not taking advantage of each other. 1's like to express themselves while 8's like to hide things, so both must balance out these aspects with each other. There is much passion between these two and a lot of daring in all areas of life. 1 must remember not to boast or try to take advantage of the 8 for their own ends, and the 8 must not manipulate a situation without the 1's knowing. This combination is most advantageous in business where both are very ambitious for the attainment of wealth. Love matters can get more dicey, as if playing with fire itself, but they tend to be direct and trend towards the taboo side of things.

1-9

These two are completely different numbers. They are opposites in many ways, with 1 being selfish and aggressive and 9 being selfless and peaceful. 1's present themselves as they are, while 9's prefer to speak through allusion, letting the other to figure out their meaning. 1 is about using the strength of will while 9 is more about aspirations and using their intuition. 9 understands the 1's egocentric needs, but 1's do not understand 9's and their deep seated understandings. This combination is okay for business, though definitely not the best. Love wise, this can be a good sexual union provided the 1 does not show overt anger towards the 9.

5-4 – 2-2 to 2-9

2-2

This is a good, peaceful association as long as they do not allow each other's emotional waves to bother each other too much. Both strives to find a balance in their environment and if both are living in the positive then they keep each other in check in regards to this. There is a great chance for procrastination however as motivation to perform actions is not readily apparent due to indecisions. They have a tendency to contemplate far more than taking actions. They must be careful to avoid the apathy that this combination generates, which can lead to mood swings. Otherwise, this is a good combination for procreation.

2-3

The compatibility between these two is fairly easy as long as their feelings are not hurt too much. The 3 loves to communicate and can get the 2 to talk about its feelings, which is something it can have a hard time doing otherwise. The 2 likewise has a calming effect on the 3 which can often seem restless. The unpredictable and moving nature of the 3 can become more harmonized (positive or negative) when it is paired with the 2. The danger lies in the 3 saying the right things at the right time, as it must be careful not to hurt the 2's feelings. Likewise, the 2 is more of a homebody and may have a hard time with 3's lifestyle of having to be constantly on the move. Still, the 2 can show the 3 that not everything in life is about fun and that serious planning is needed for a long term relationship. The 3 in the meantime can shaken up the 2 and show it not to be serious all the time. An easy combination all around.

2-4

This is a combination that makes for easy compatibility. The 4, not inherently a vocal number ends up finding a trustworthy partner to open up to. In return, the 2 sends its balance and harmony, which jives well with 4's search for peace. Both want a comfortable life and a solid material footing. Both have a tendency to work quite a bit, so it is important to not forget about recreation time. It is easy to fall into a monotonous lifestyle unless things are spiced up. 4 is very down to earth which is what the dreamy and often indecisive 2 needs. Financial planning is very good with these two numbers. This is one of those combinations that starts out slow but gets better with time.

2-5

This combination is rather difficult as both of these numbers live in totally different worlds. The 2 is quiet, peaceful and calm, interested in the feelings of others. The 5 is more interested in adventures, movement and exploring their sensualities. They are more on the go while the 2 does not like to move around nearly as much. Sexuality will probably bring these two together, but it is doubtful that anything long lasting will come out of this union. If it does, then spirituality is a definite focus. The 2 wants to know the details, which can bog down the 5 and make it restless and jittery. In turn, the 5's constant need for movement and adventure can easily tire out the sensitive 2. If this combination prevails, then it is off the beaten path of life.

2-6

This is an easy combination for various reasons, although it can lead into some dangers. The 6 will shake the 2 out of its apathy and become productive or take action. There is much communication between these two as both understand the need for harmony and they do not want to hurt each other. 6 must be careful to tone down its criticism to softer levels with the 2 in that regard. There is a danger of keeping things secret behind closed doors with these two. Such revelations can make this combination suddenly spiral out of control. This is why it is important for these two to not keep things from each other and to be sincere with their activities. 2 may feel the 6 to be intellectually superior, however at the same time 2 has the greater sensitivity and can sense things the 6 cannot. These qualities should be used for the benefit of the whole, not so much for selfish fulfillment.

2-7

This combination is easy for personal relationships, but becomes more difficult for business related matters. Both are emotional and sentimental, though the 2 tends more toward peace while the 7 is more willing to criticize where it feels necessary. Despite this, the 7 is very protective which the 2 responds with tenderness and care. The 7's independent spirit may disturb the more conformist 2, who sometimes needs to be shaken up to the reality of things. Both have an interest in education and helping the common man, whether teaching or otherwise. They are very picky with the associates they meet with. Their sexuality tends to revolve around role playing. This union creates a greater connection with the world around them, both on a mental and emotional level. Paradoxically, it takes both 2 and 7 a long time to understand each other's emotions. This does not stop their union however, and instead makes it all the more intriguing.

2-8

This combination can work, albeit with some hurdles and potholes. Both have secretive natures, though the 8 hides far more than the 2 does. The 8 may try to manipulate the 2 to their liking, which will usually turn out badly once the 2 catches on. This can result in some major ego matches. On the other hand, if the 8 understands that the 2 is willing to meet their needs, then it will be willing to negotiate. There is also a certain mode of apathy that can set in if both feel uninspired to take action. This inertia should be overcome as much as possible. Sexually, these two get along well. The 8 has many fantasies to try out which the 2 will oblige on much of them. However, the expression of love may be a problem with this combination because both express themselves in different ways. 8's are typically not emotionally expressive, especially in terms of intimacy. 2's however desire a sensitive intimacy, which the 8's cannot give. This can serve to frustrate the 2's to the point of the partnership falling apart. Both need to understand their emotions well and compromise on what is acceptable for this aspect to work.

2-9

This is a combination that lends itself more to the esoteric realms of existence and also to philanthropic endeavors. The 9 is not interested with material concerns, instead more focused on the plight of man and the intuitive gleanings it comes across. The 2 on the other hand seeks material comfort and security and needs the help of others to obtain this. Both are emotional numbers, but express and use them in different ways. Both of these numbers, with their combined knowledge of the higher and lower emotional realms can easily control others, or each other if one turns negative. Love partnerships work well here, as long as 2's emotions are balanced and the 9 puts their feet on the ground.

5-5 – 3-3 to 3-9

3-3

This is a very jovial combination full of conversation, self expression and good times. They inspire each other and stimulate their creative juices to use on whatever projects they are working on. They know how to let go and enjoy what life has to offer. That being said, these two can spend too much time gliding on the surface of things and a serious lack of depth can develop. They may be aware of this, yet there is an inertia that seems to prevent them from developing any deeper roots. If these two are to be serious partners, then it may take them a long time to develop anything permanent. Life obligations will be the catalysts that will set these two into motion, wherever they may go.

3-4

These two can be a bit difficult together because of their different natures. However, if they can get along then it is very constructive. The 3 is expressive and lives on the lighter side of life, not afraid to talk about what its feeling. The 4 on the other hand is much more reserved and only communicates to those it feels they can trust. The 3 likes to enjoy what life has to offer and oftentimes skims on the surface of things to avoid deeper subjects that may pull it under. The 4 on the other hand spends most of its time “in the deep” with its attention on details, information and the inner workings of things. It will take some compromise to get these two to cooperate. The 3 must see that the things that matter in life are those with deeper roots, and the 4 can learn to appreciate not being so serious about everything. One of the keys to cooperation is respecting each other's individuality. These two numbers together often represent a sort of spiritual purging, which for those unaware of the spiritual realms can be rather painful. However, the end result usually leaves one in a better position.

3-5

These two are like wheels on ice! They tend to move very quickly through life and most of their activities. These two can empower each other through their knowledge and experience and together they can be a formidable force. The 3 is very curious about the 5's unconventional ways and experience in life, and the latter is interested in the 3's joy of living and creativity. Problems arise when the 3 prods the 5 a little too much and doesn't respect their way of life, which will anger the 5 greatly. 5 in the meantime must be careful about violating the 3's ethics code and social rules it adheres by. At the worst these two are hotheads ready for a fight, their frothing egos not willing to back off. The issue is constructive growth versus destructive regression. Cooperation and seeing the other's point of view brings the former, while egotism and self centeredness brings conflict.

3-6

These two are very creative together, though long term potential may be a bit more difficult. The 3, being carefree and outgoing faces the responsibilities and the criticism of the 6. The 3 may be apt to run away, refusing to delve deeper than the surface. On the other hand, the 6 can bring the much needed depth that the 3 can otherwise be afraid to delve into. It will take courage by both numbers to stick together. For the 6, some amount of sacrifice may be involved to keep the relationship moving. They can both inspire each other into high periods of creativity that can reach the levels of genius.

3-7

Both numbers are similar, though ultimately very different. Despite this, compatibility is possible. There can be a alluring pull that brings these numbers together. The 3 experiences life on the outside with a joyous attitude while the 7 experiences life on the inside, not afraid to delve into the hidden mysteries of its being. Together, they are both very expressive of their creative sense. However, ego battles can easily erupt if both do not discipline their self expressions and honor the other's individuality. It is important for neither to infringe upon the free will and individuality of the other. If this cannot be done, then this combination is doomed. Instability and overthrows will erupt. Instead, a solid plan and foundation must be formulated and built brick by brick. 3 must not jump ahead of the gun in this regard and the 7 must catch the 3 if this does occur. Inner strength will allow them to overcome obstacles that come their way.

3-8

This can be a difficult combination. There seems to be an undercurrent of change and apathy that does not allow these numbers to stick. They can naturally glide past each other. However, if both have a zest to experience life and like to communicate with others, then this combination is doable. More than likely, specific life experiences bring them together. However, both operate very differently and each must respect their differences. If each can understand each other's strengths, then this combination can bring illumination and enlightenment in many areas of their lives. This is a good combination for orators and artists for this reason. Both sides will need to be flexible and be willing to adapt to the others vastly different lifestyle.

3-9

This is an easy combination in terms of compatibility. Both love to explore the areas of the mind and are highly creative in their respective rights. The 3 can get the 9 to come back from its inner worlds and express itself. The 9 enjoys the enjoyment the 3 brings to its mundane reality. They can be like Romeo & Juliet, madly into each other as the rest of the world seemingly fades away, and indeed 9 is one of the few numbers that can fulfill the 3's dreams. However, therein lies the challenge. The demands of the real world still beckon, and someone has to pay the bills, walk the dog and wash the dishes. Someone has to uphold the agreed standards of ethics and morality lest they be broken from being lost in the moment. In other words, they must avoid getting carried away inside of their own euphoria. While the desire to collaborate may be strong, responsibilities and ethics give these two a foundation and stability to work from, especially in the emotional realm. These two need emotional stability in order to thrive. Mundane responsibilities can help ground their energies if they become unstable.

5-6 – 4-4 to 4-9

4-4

This is an easy combination, granted that both have similar ethics. They both understand what they are after and both are able and willing to work hard to get there. They have their feet on the ground and are concerned with material matters. Together they can make substantial material achievement. There will be a large focus on work and money. Usually if one is procrastinating, the other will shake them back into being productive. They only believe it when they see it. There is a certain amount of dullness that can be alleviated with recreational activities or taking up a hobby. They are comfortable to follow a life of structured order. Their love life can be rather conventional, though they like to dress up for their partner.

4-5

This is a very difficult combination. It is unlikely that these two will come together willingly unless other numbers in the charts of both individuals are very harmonious. 4 and 5 are complete opposites: the 4 being slow, methodical, deliberate, disciplined and hardworking and conservative and the 5 being fast, flexible, freedom loving and a lover of experience. Combined, these two make for a difficult existence marked by sudden material losses and a constant material movement that requires one to be on their toes. Said material losses can lead to misery unless it is understood that the only thing that remains constant is change itself. Despite this knowledge, the highly different aspirations of both numbers will require much compromise for this to work. Each would have to honor the other as an individual and this is likely to be difficult considering the natural pull to just walk away.

4-6

This is an easy combination that makes for an excellent home based partnership. 6 seeks a stable life with those it loves and the 4 can provide this after some determination. Both seek a rather conventional relationship. The 6 provides the nurturing and the emotional catalyst that can stimulate the 4 towards greater material accomplishment. These two can be so comfortable that it can borderline on boredom at times. It is important for these two to have initiative to keep themselves swinging. They should coordinate responsibilities between themselves well and remember to not violate each others ethic codes. The 4 should not procrastinate here as the 6 can get onto their case very quickly. Otherwise, this is one of the better combinations for both numbers and it can lead to a happy home life. They can become leaders in their community from the projects they work upon.

4-7

This can be a challenging but very rewarding combination. The 4 stands for all that is material, hard working, conventional and traditional while the 7 is spiritual, inward seeking, analytical and eccentric. One is focused on the material reality while the other is more focused on the inner reality. These two must strike a balance and maintain this balance between them for this work, and this can be challenging at first. The temptation to lose one's self in finer detail work is very great and runs of the risk of losing the bigger picture. However, it is through such work that some brilliance can be born between these two, whether made public or kept personally between themselves. They should avoid depression as this could really drag them down. The 7 is the one most likely to initiate romantic endeavors in this combination; they have a deep need for intimacy and the 4's can provide this. Typically these two either seek to show the world their illuminated lives, or they like to stay hidden from it.

4-8

This is an easy combination in many ways, though not always constructive. The 4 naturally glides together with the 8, who is a powerhouse of organization and effort and naturally helps the 4 in its endeavors. The 4 admires the 8's perseverance and energy expenditure along with their knowledge of money matters and the business world. For the 4, it indicates the harvest of their work and their activities, which their partner more rapidly facilitates. And for the 8, the 4 reminds them of their limitations and to not go overboard with their plans, and they appreciate the rock solid dedication the 4 brings to them. The dangers between these two lie in the form of spiritual laziness. They may become too focused on the material world to neglect this portion of their lives and this can have drastic consequences. They may not be able to appreciate their material accomplishments and quickly move on to the next best thing, hoping they will find the satisfaction their last accomplishment didn't give them. Except, the cycle repeats itself. These two need to appreciate what they have, what they have done and to remember that not everyone can do what they do. After some development, they will have a tendency to seek out what really makes them happy.

4-9

Though not always easy, this is a good combination. The 4 seeks to establish concrete in their lives, something of tangible value while the 9 is more oriented towards those ideals that it considers holds value in the world. Though both numbers have different approaches, they are both complementary. The 9 can give many ideas for the 4 to work with, and the 4 can remind the 9 what would work in reality and what will not. This is a continuous growing & learning experience for both numbers, as long as both are willing to transform themselves for their partner. The 9 can show the 4 the world that was hidden from their eyes and this can be a great eye opener for them. These two tend to travel to many places. This is one of the few numbers that 4 is comfortable traveling with. The 9 can get the 4 to try new ways of doing things, as long as it understands it can work in reality. The romantic arena may take some time to adjust to each other's interests, but overall this should not be a hindrance.

5-7 – 5-5 to 5-9

5-5

This is a fiery combination full of changes, experiences and sensuality. These two move so much it can be difficult to form deep roots and it can take a while before anything of the sort grows between them. One moment they have a chance to know each other, the next they have moved onto separate experiences. Both will have to make some sacrifices to find time to spend together. It is likely that both have similar values related to freedom and neither will impose their own on the other, instead exchanging their ideas and either sticking together or moving on. But, if these two have very similar values then they can become very dedicated to each other and stick oftentimes for their entire lives. The obvious caution here is the entropy that can spiral them out of control. Someone's got to put on the brakes when this happens, but who will it be? This will depend on who has more cautious numbers in their charts.

5-6

This is a difficult combination, save for strictly “hooking up.” The 5 wishes to live its life as it wishes in absolute freedom, without restraint inside or outside of its existence. The 6 on the other hand lives behind sets of morals and ethics that ties it down with its loved ones. In fact, it is the deeper responsibilities of love that can cause a lot of friction between these two numbers. The 5 is not keen on living a life of responsibilities and is certainly not a homebody. Moreover, the 5 does not root itself into the deep emotional depths of the heart like the 6 does and this can make the 6 very agitated. The 5's need for freedom in all areas of its life, including its emotional experiences make this an unlikely combination. On the other hand, in the realms of romance this is good for casual hookups, as both numbers are sensual and love to explore in that aspect. However, nothing permanent is to be expected from these two and a casual relationship is the most that can be expected.

5-7

This is an intriguing combination that can go any which way, though largely it is in the positive. The 5's life experience and need for freedom attracts the 7 as both have similar intellectual pursuits. The 5 can get the 7 to see more of life and to give it more courage to express its true self. The 7, for its part can help illuminate those aspects of life that the 5 finds puzzling and to give it a solid root base for it to work from. The internal world of the 7, kept hidden from most people can become realized under the 5's influence. They make great friends and intellectual partners. The key is to try and understand the other's point of view before drawing any conclusions. The 5 should avoid skimming from one subject to another without fully understanding the gist of what they are talking about: this will irk the 7. Likewise, the 7 should avoid hiding its true self. Romance wise, the 7 needs intimacy on a deep level, and the 5 can provide this and more, being an explorer at heart. Both have an innate curiosity about life that can act as one of the glues that keep them together.

5-8

This combination can be a bit difficult. Here the adventurous and freedom loving 5 is teamed up with the 8, a materialistic organizing number. This is a combination that imposes limits on two numbers that do not like to see them: the 5 sees what it takes to build things of substantial value, and the 8 can suddenly undergo changes and loss out of the blue oftentimes. The 5 may not be apt to do this, feeling it could be an infringement upon its free will. The 8 on the other hand may not like the 5's lack of self control and lack of respect in its dealing with others. These two must come to an agreement for this to be workable. One should not change the other and this is especially true for the manipulative 8. This combination is best suited to a work environment where the 5 can act as a catalyst to move 8's projects forward more quickly. Once an agreement is made both numbers can really roll through life very quickly. However, both should watch out to not move too quickly and know when to put on the brakes. Romance does not end well for these two. It is best to seek other numbers in that regard.

5-9

This is a good combination. The 5 meets a number that understands the intransigent and changing nature of life. These two will go far in their travels, the 5 being curious about what life has to offer and the 9 with a desire to learn what it can about the world it loves in. This combination radiates a certain sense of honor in all their dealings. There is a zest for living life and for going from one experience to the next. They must be careful not to get carried away and undermine their foundations. 5 is the go getter in this relationship while the 9 is the dreamer. However, the 9's dreams can add fuel the fire of 5's curiosity. 5's must be careful not to push the envelope too far for the 9. Unlike most relationships for the 5, this relationship is very easygoing and contains a surprising lack of aggression. Much sensuality can come from this union.

5-8 – 6-6 to 6-9

6-6

These two are an easy match as both instantly recognize the qualities in each and are able to get along nicely as long as both of their ideals align right. Both recognize their intensive need to explore the emotional realms inside of themselves and a mode of self expression becomes apparent, along with a joy of living. Being primarily home bound numbers, their discussions will likely range from interior decorating to ethical and moral concepts. They may find that one may have to “take the fall” for the other in certain situations. These scenarios should be seen out of love rather than disdain or self misery for the golden rule directly applies here: treat others as you'd like yourself to be treated. Since they are so alike, forgiveness in the face of mistakes is emphasized here, otherwise a bickering match can result in a downward spiral. The heart should rule over the head in such matters.

6-7

This is the classic “6's and 7's” combination which is known to be difficult. These two numbers are both very different yet cunning in their own ways, to the point where reaching agreement takes a lot of time and communication. As a result, these two numbers move slowly throughout life and anything constructive usually takes a long time to complete. Only when agreements are reached do they move forward. Both are romantic but in completely different ways. The 6's need for responsibility and close emotional relationships contradicts with the 7's need for silence and isolation to understand their spiritual self. The 7's are romantic but on a deeper, more spiritual level that does not vibrate on the 6's emotional wavelength. To the 6, they become confused and wonder why the 7 does not respond to their emotional gestures. To the 7, the 6's unbridled emotions can cloud their awareness which can lead to annoyance. They both work on different levels of feeling: the 6 on the emotional level, and the 7 on the spiritual level. The 6 must learn to not suffocate the 7 with its love and the 7 must be careful in what it says to the 6 as the temptation to chastise can be great. Some combinations work well these these two numbers as each provides what the other lacks, but the difficult communication and rough understanding does not make it easy to live with. The result is being drawn together, but being miserable all at once. If the inner self is not listened to, then this combination can lead to craziness and insanity. To avoid this, the 6 must learn not to always follow its emotions, and instead listen to its inner self and act accordingly. The 7 in turn must not let emotions cloud its awareness yet neither see it as intrusive, instead accepting them as they are rather than resisting them.

6-8

This is an easy combination suitable for the home life and for marriage. The 6 understands and admires the 8's courage, strength and effort it puts into their projects while the 8 greatly appreciates the 6's devotion, love and commitment to them. Both numbers have the courage to stand up for each other if the time calls for it, especially the 8 who is more than willing to protect those it loves if dangers arises which is exactly what the 6 needs. It is common to find large families with this combination and those who amass fortunes in life. This combination tends to be active: they are always doing something around the house or in the neighborhood. Communicating all their issues can be a bit of a challenge due to their active schedules and deep seated fears. These two must remember to keep love in the family alive and not let money matters take center stage. If money becomes the prime focus, then the relationship begins to degrade from within until it suddenly erupts on the outside, unannounced. This combination will be full of temptations and possible addictions that must be understood and controlled for what they are. Self control and discipline may be needed in terms of the senses.

6-9

This can be a challenging, yet not wholly difficult combination. There is much movement between these two numbers, whether in the external world they inhabit or inside their own respective inner worlds. Both must discipline themselves in order to not be caught in the otherwise chaotic maelstrom that underlies this combination. The 6 is drawn toward the 9's idealism, wisdom and compassion for humanity, though the 9's bohemian ways may put a damper on things. The 9 wouldn't have it any other way however, preferring to follow its dream of how the world should be. These two represent the merger of interpersonal (6) and intrapersonal (9) relationships being merged together. The balance between personal love and compassion for others must be balanced between these two. At the same time, both can be afraid to hurt the other on fundamental issues, so communication can be a problem at times. With the right intentions, these two numbers can do a lot of good in the world. They can unlock the higher love of the creation and express this to uplift humanity. This may take its toll on the 6 however, so while the 9 is not fazed by this prospect it must keep vigilant on their partners well being. Negatively, this combination can result in chaos and confusion, a lack of order than forces one inward. If selfish, this can lead to a number of sins and debauchery.

5-9 – 7-7 to 7-9

7-7

These two must have a common mission or set of lessons in order to find any kind of compatibility. Otherwise, they can easily slip by each other in the world. If they do have a common mission, then the relations between them can become very intense. They have an ability to reflect themselves in the other, and if this is not seen for what it is then arguments can easily arise. There is a temptation towards criticism, which can be alleviated by understanding that all are on different levels of understanding. This combination moves and changes quickly internally, to the point that external reality can be ignored altogether. While an obvious danger to those who would observe, it is not so obvious to these two for they know the external world an illusion, and the great truth lies within themselves. Nevertheless, illusion or not both 7's are incarnate inside of it and must take heed. Odd situations that may defy physical explanation may occur with these two, which can only be solved from spiritual understanding. A great knowledge of the spiritual realms may be gathered together between them, which could be used for the better or for worse. Romanticism for these two is far removed from the external world that most are familiar with. It is truly a soul to soul partnership.

7-8

This is a somewhat difficult combination , but can be very rewarding. The 7 is focused on penetrating the mystery within and is not afraid to stand their ground to what they feel is right. The 8 likewise is a warrior, having the courage and determination to to see what they'd like manifest. The 7 is more focused on the spiritual while the 8 is focused on material efforts. Despite the seemingly opposed motivations, both have many similarities. They tend to keep secrets and are discreet in their dealings with others. They tend to keep everything to themselves unless it is someone they either feel they can entrust information, or has authorized access to said information. While there is a desire to offer a service to the public to satisfy their material goals, they keep to themselves and their personal lives are something they only know. They are about maturity and control. They like to enjoy life's pleasure together. They must take care not to travel down the paths of excess. Occult knowledge must also be guarded carefully, for its misuse is a danger for this combination.

7-9

This is a good combination for those spiritually inclined. The dreamy 9's exploration of world knowledge and wisdom fits in nicely with the 7's exploration of the interior. These two can spend long hours talking about philosophical and spiritual concepts. They prefer the private life and often seclude themselves away from prying eyes. Because of their intense spiritual connection, they need to discipline themselves in order to continue their physical existence in the material world. For casual experiences, this combination can be challenging in the material world as it naturally purifies all that it comes across. Both numbers can naturally reach their center of self together. Not all is rosy: 9 tends to be lazy at times, but 7's nosiness can kick them out of it easily. Likewise, the 7 can be too argumentative but 9's patience and peaceful nature can easily defuse this in turn. This combination is good for the study of religion and understanding the creation.

5-10 – 8-8 to 8-9

8-8

This combination is possible, but it highly depends on both their spiritual natures and only if they agree on terms and conditions beforehand. Otherwise, one is likely to dominate the other and the relationship either becomes imbalanced or falls apart. The 8 naturally likes to possess and dominate, and both must first agree on sets of parameters, which can be anything to responsibilities to one's beliefs and morality. This combination requires sincerity to work as both know each other's capabilities, if their visions are aligned right. There is a deep spiritual working within both of them as they manipulate the hidden world for their materialistic advantage. Such spiritual work may not be suited to every 8-8 combination given the rest of the chart and may fail for this reason. Both like to enjoy themselves with games or other amusements, and this is the other side of the coin with these two numbers. Both know how to relax and like to help their partners do so. There will probably be times of intense interaction coupled with periods of silence.

8-9

This is generally a good combination as long as both partners are balanced on their own merit. The 8 is primarily focused on the material world and attaining for itself the position it desires in life. This provides what the 9 needs, and in return it freely offers its wisdom to the 8 who can often lack such. There is likely a spiritual connection between these two that is hard to describe in words. Yet, the 9 is not primarily attracted to material life and instead finds its spiritual realm to be more important. This can annoy the 8 to no end, especially when the 9 decides to give money away to charity or spend its time volunteering. These two numbers are good as a teacher and student combination when one must teach the other about something. They also work well in a marketplace or running a small business where customer interaction is a primary focus. However, stick the 9 in a desk job and it is over before it began.

5-11 – 9-9

9-9

These two are a good and easy combination. They recognize themselves in the other, and at the same time they recognize another individual like themselves. They understand each other easily and there's few barriers for them to learn something. They are both dreamy and also can be quite selfless and they end up stimulating desires in each other that otherwise would've remained quiet. They like to travel and explore what the world has to offer. They must be careful of jealousy and possessiveness, as they are both aware that all things are transient, and yet the struggle to accept the transience of their relationship may be apparent. They must also learn to take chances and not be afraid to live life in material reality. They can get caught up in an idealism separate from reality unless there is a mechanism that can keep their feet on the ground long enough to sustain themselves. Their relationship is one that is not always about words, as much information is transmitted between them that could be construed as telepathy or otherwise.

Sources

- Buess, Lynn. Forever Numerology.
Deaver, Korra. The Master Numbers.
Decoz, Hans. Numerology: Key To Your Inner Self.
Dodge, Ellin. Numerology Has Your Number.
Gale, Julie. Soul Numerology.
Goodwin, Matthew Oliver. Numerology: The Complete Guide Volumes 1 & 2.
Heyes, Johann. Initiation to Numerology.
Javane, Faith. Master Numbers: Cycles of Divine Order.
Javane, Faith & Dusty Bunker. Numerology and the Divine Triangle.
Jeanne. Numerology.
King, Richard Andrew. The King's Numerology: Volume 1.
Leinbach, Esther. Numerology: Multiple Digits & Decantes.
Lobos, Gladys. Numerology.
Pochat, Wilfrid & Michel Pirmaier. The Unveiled Numerology Volumes 1 & 2.
Shaler, Lance. Why Do Numbers Count?